

Monday they'll decide to decide - or not

by Jeff Nazzaro

Selectmen Michael McCoy and Diane Allan agree that everyone wants to see the saga surrounding the former's bid for a liquor license come to a close. Which way it will go - McCoy being granted a liquor license or not - will begin to be played out again with the board of selectmen at its April 8 meeting, according to Allan.

Last Wednesday, almost two months after its hearing in Boston, the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission sided with McCoy over Allan, remanding the hearing back to the board of selectmen and recommending that Allan disclose on the record her prior involvement with McCoy before that new hearing is held. The ABCC also stated that "counsel for the applicant may choose to file a motion to recuse Chairperson Allan" based on that previous involvement.

Allan, who stressed that the ABCC's recommendation is just that - a recommendation to the board, said Tuesday that if the board did hold a new hearing for McCoy, she would submit the disclosure, but said she did not yet know if she would take herself off the board (recuse herself) for the hearing.

"I think I will wait and see what [McCoy's] counsel says," Allan stated. "But trust me, I will do the right thing."

On the other side, O'Connell said he will be waiting for Allan to make the first move.

"She may decide it's not something she has to participate in," O'Connell said. "If she chooses to participate ... then it may be appropriate that Mr. McCoy choose to recuse her."

Based on O'Connell's statements and the fact that a board minus Allan, chaired on an interim basis by Selectman Robert Cain and seating also Selectmen Jim Rooney (who voted in favor of the license the first time around) and Dan Wandell (who didn't) would offer McCoy his best chance of getting a license since he first applied almost two years ago, the motion for recusal, should Allan not voluntarily step aside, seems a certainty.

Allan said she would consult with Town Counsel Alan Altman, who argued the ABCC hearing on her behalf, about what her best course of action would be.

First, Allan said, the board of selectmen has to act on the letter bearing the decision against her. The board has 30 days from the March 26 date of the decision in which to file an appeal in Superior Court. The board could vote to pursue an appeal, take no action, or to hold another hearing for McCoy, Allan said. She said the vote would be taken on April 8 in open, as opposed to executive, session.

"If the board wants to have another hearing the board will vote on that," Allan said. "Whatever the board wishes I will follow that."

O'Connell said that in his opinion an appeal would be foolhardy.

"It's not a good basis for an appeal," he said. "If they did choose to appeal, they'd be wasting a great deal of time and money."

O'Connell said he would not anticipate what the board might do and thus would not comment on scenarios involving the board's reluctance to rehear the matter or grant the license. But last week, O'Connell warned that while the board has the right to appeal, failing that they had better rehear the license application.

"I don't believe they can ignore it," O'Connell said. "If they ignore it, they do so at their own peril."

But as of Tuesday, the board had ignored O'Connell, who said he faxed a request last week to the board of selectmen, Altman and Town Manager Michael Cairn that the board rehear the application April 8. A second fax, was sent Monday to inquire as to the status of the first transmission. O'Connell said he has received no reply. "I just have a difficult time with people who don't respond," he said.

Allan, who last Wednesday when the decision was announced said she first had to consult with Altman, this week responded to the ABCC's decision, saying that it "really was no surprise" considering McCoy's attorney, who McCoy had previously dubbed a "heavy hitter."

Allan was dismayed that the ABCC made a decision based only on alleged bias and not on the issue of character. The hearing was split along those two issues, with the commission, after a motion from O'Connell, deciding to hear first the bias issue and then make a decision if they could. Only if necessary did they intend to hear the character issue.

"They never allowed us to present our case on character and fitness of the applicant," Allan said.

The ABCC felt they didn't need to, stating in its decision "The Commission finds that there was insufficient evidence present at the Local Board hearing for Allan to make a finding relative to the character and fitness of the applicant. Character and fitness were two reasons Allan gave for not voting for McCoy's license last August."

She said that while she will make the disclosure the ABCC recommends, she wonders why Cain, who has has well documented conflicts with McCoy, does not have to do the same. She further said that she, like Cain, has put differences with McCoy aside, despite what the ABCC thinks.

"The only thing I'm concerned about is Mr. Cain doesn't have to make any disclosures about his run-in with Mr. McCoy. I don't understand why I'm being singled out. ... If Mr. Bob Cain can get over his differences with Mr. McCoy so can I, and I believe I've done that."

Allan now wants to get past the liquor license issue and on to what she calls "real issues."

"If [McCoy] wants to make this a campaign issue, that's sad," she said. "People want to hear about other issues. In my opinion it takes more to being a selectman than giving or receiving liquor licenses. I'm going to focus on the real issues of this campaign."

For his part, while pleased, McCoy has been restrained in speaking about the ABCC victory and aside from responding to direct queries, has not publicly brought up the matter. When asked Tuesday, McCoy reiterated his take on the situation.

"If I voted along with [Allan], I'd be having a beer with her right now in my restaurant," he said. "I wish it had never gone this far. ... They take it out on your livelihood, and that's sad."

Absentee Ballots available

Absentee ballots are available for Wilmington's April 20 annual Town Election at the town clerk's office. One may make application and vote in person during regular office hours 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., until noon the day before election Friday, April 19.

A ballot may also be requested by mail. This requires a request in writing sent to the town clerk. Call 658-2030 with questions.

League draws 7 candidates

by Jeff Nazzaro

The mood was civil, the issues and debate straightforward as the Wilmington chapter of the League of Women Voters played host to seven of the 10 candidates on the ballot for the April 20 town election at its annual candidates night Monday at the Shawsheen School.

Melvin Keough, seeking reelection unopposed to the housing authority, was not present. Charles Gilbert, looking to keep his seat on the redevelopment authority, was, but without challenger Mark Nelson. For the three-person school committee race, incumbent Bob Young and political newcomer Nora Zinan squared off, while Barbara Breakey was a no show. All four candidates for selectman, veterans Diane Allan and Michael McCoy and first time candidates Jim Mahoney and Michael Newhouse took the stage to offer their views on why they would be good choices for the big board.

The format was simple: a one-minute opening statement followed by questions from the audience or from moderator Liz Marshall, who read previously written questions from both residents and the League. A two-minute closing statement was then afforded.

Gilbert was up first, giving a brief synopsis of his resume and vision for the redevelopment authority, which he basically said should stick to issues of redevelopment and not try to take on the role of, for instance the Mass-Highway Department.

For school committee, Young focused on his tenure with the board, his accomplishments, concerns and tried to paint a picture of himself as an independent and often lone voice on contractual votes. Zinan, on the other hand, looked to present her case, giving her qualifications in education and some ideas for how the committee could be improved.

The issues presented were of busing and technology and, of course, overcrowding. Both candidates recognized need in these areas and said that essentially that they needed to hear from the people on them.

Egg Hunt Saturday

The Easter Bunny, through the Wilmington Recreation Department, will lay the eggs on and around the Town Common and the kids of Wilmington will put on a scramble to find them Saturday, April 6 at 2:00 p.m. sharp.

The rain date for the event, which traditionally draws hordes of happy hunters, is Sunday, April 7 and then Saturday April 13.

Just before noon on Tuesday Wilmington Fire Lt. John Brown was responding from the scene of a car fire on Rt 93 to an accident on Rt. 38 at the Woburn line when he was involved in an accident. Lt. Brown was driving the department's brand new '96 Chevy pickup truck. As he proceeded up the center of the road approaching Lucci's a car driven by John Sheehan of Woburn pulled into traffic. Sheehan was taken by the Reading ambulance to Lahey Clinic. Lt. Brown was not injured. The Wilmington DPW credit work done to the pickup by Firefighter Bob Woods and Police Officer John Shepard in saving the town major repairs on the truck. A brush bar they installed took the brunt of the crash and saved the engine compartment from damage.

Wilmington receives recycling grant

The Town of Wilmington has received $8,489 as part of a state sponsored recycling grant provided to the North East Solid Waste Committee (NESWC). Wilmington's award is part of a larger $400,000 state grant to support recycling in NESWC communities.

NESWC Executive Director Steven M. Rothstein said, "These funds will help support Wilmington's recycling programs. Thanks to the assistance of State Senator John D. O'Brien Jr., and State Representatives James R. Miceli and Marianne W. Brenton, the state environmental agencies, and Wilmington officials, some of the costs of recycling will be offset as a result of this grant program."

Library bake sale Saturday

The Friends of the Harold Patten Public Library in Tewksbury will hold their annual spring Bake Sale on Saturday, April 6, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Home baked goodies will be sold to support the library museum pass program, which offers free use of passes to several of New England's best museums to library patrons.

communities face a unique challenge concerning their desire to recycle and help the Commonwealth reach its goal of recycling 46 percent of municipal solid waste by the year 2000. As a result of a state sponsored 20 year contract with a waste to energy facility in North Andover, NESWC communities are forced to pay for a certain amount of trash or guaranteed annual tonnage (GAT). "Each ton that is recycled that takes a community below their GAT amount incurs a double cost - the actual cost of recycling and the cost of delivering a "phantom ton" to the North Andover facility. This costs NESWC communities millions of dollars annually," said Donald Marquis, chairman of the NESWC Board of Directors and Arlington Town Manager.

It's YOUR Money

BY JOYCE BRISBOIS

THE CHECK IS IN THE MAIL?

The Internal Revenue Service is one of the stickiest of creditors. Even if they lose your return and tax check, or any other tax document, they expect you to prove that you sent it.

The only way to do that is by using certified or registered mail. The Tax Code clearly states that the only acceptable proof of timely filing is a receipt from certified or registered mail. An ordinary postage receipt will not do. And it's advisable to clip the receipt to your copy of the return; tax disputes of one kind or another may crop up years after a return was filed.

(And forget about using private express delivery services for your tax filings. Though courts agree that current rules about proof of mailing are obsolete, they have upheld them.)

Be sure to send only one filing or claim in each certified or registered mail envelope. The IRS has been known to deny the existence of one of three refund claims sent in the same envelope.

You always get good advice about finance and taxes from the professionals at

Sign language

by Stu Neilson

Signs, signs, everywhere it's signs...

The competition is really heating up for getting those lawn signs out there! Politicians in both Tewksbury and Wilmington are campaigning with sign wars.

That's O.K. It's the first amendment and all, but you've gotta read between the signs:

The bigger the sign, obviously, the more the homeowner supports the candidate.

The more signs on the lawn — the more voters live there.

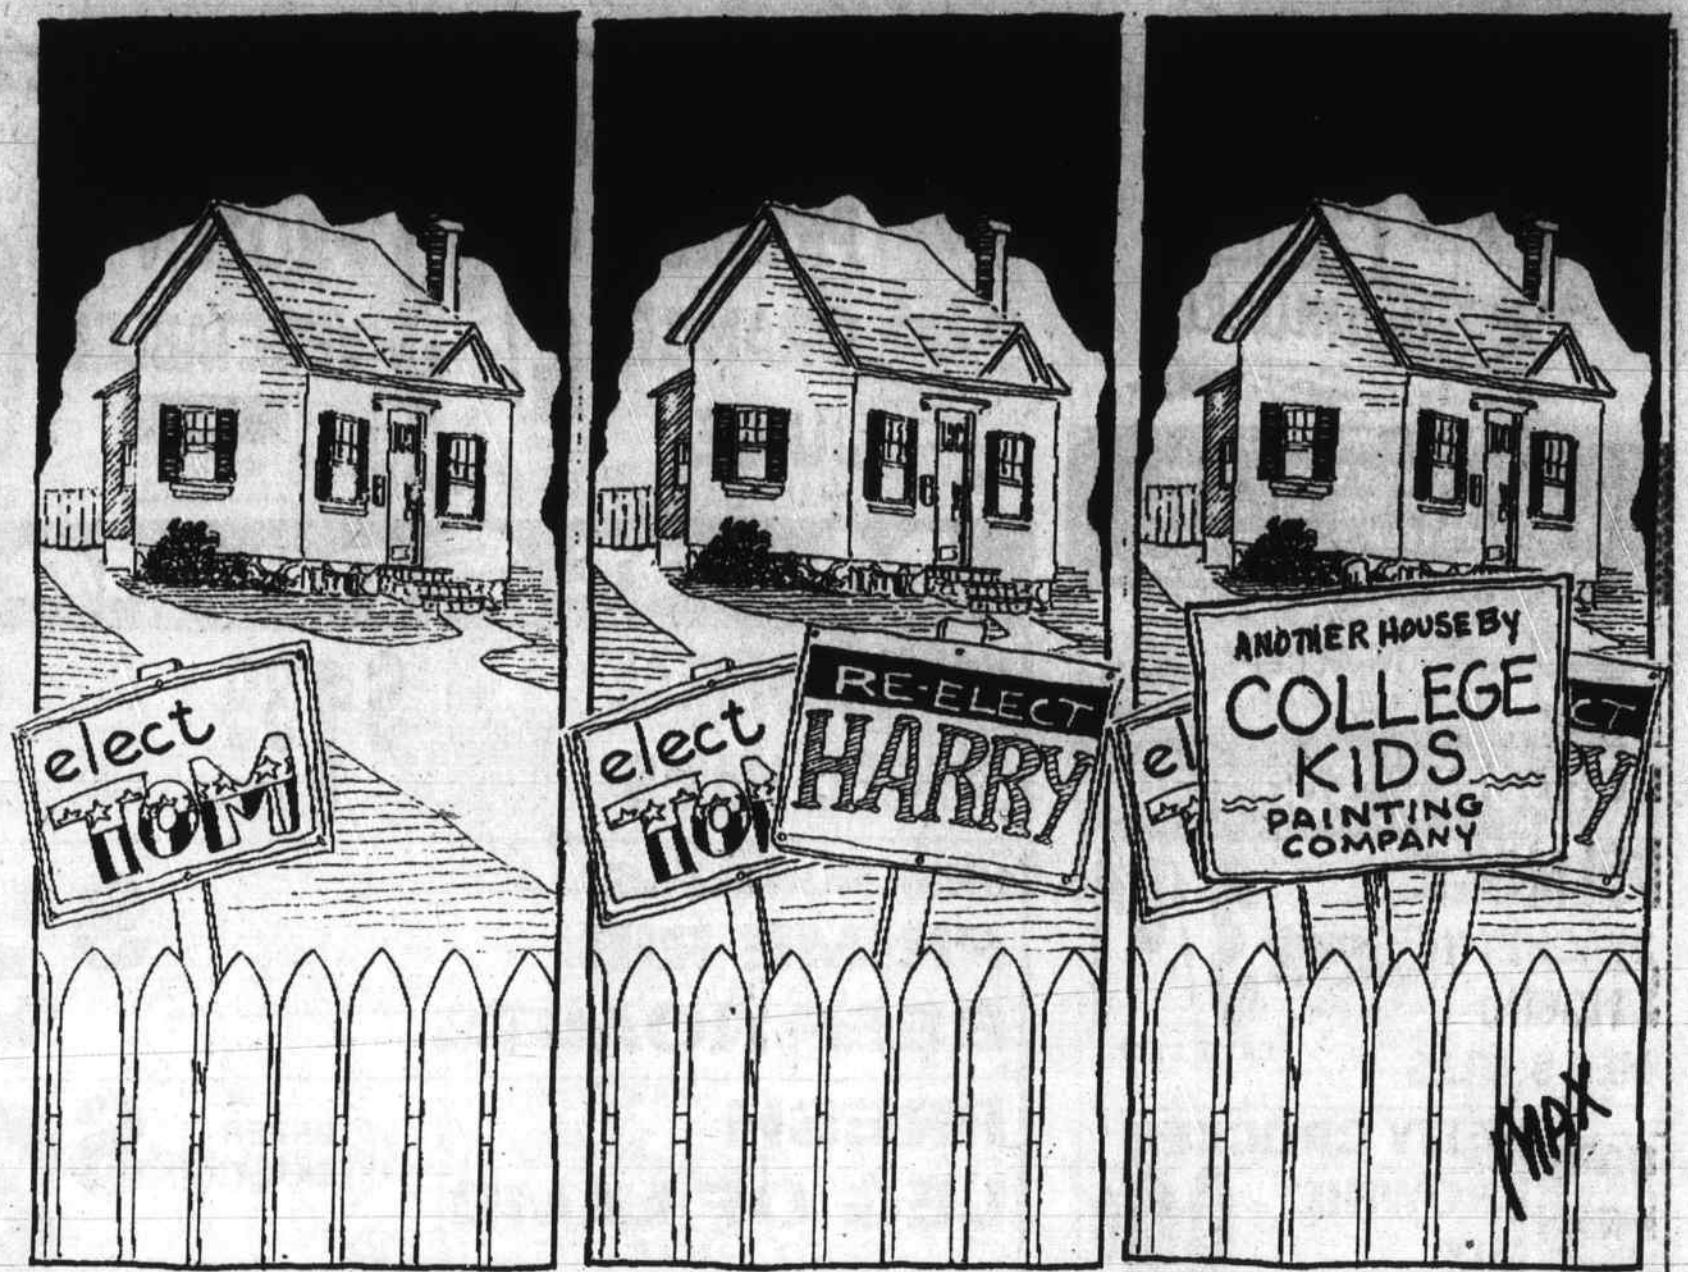

One lawn I've seen has signs supporting two diametrically opposed candidates. The question I have is... which one got there last?

Some signs are stapled to phone poles, sort of like the ones you see for a lost cat or dog, "Vote for FLUFFY."

There is one sign that seems to be sprouting up all over. This one is surely a winner. It seems to be on every vacant lot in eastern Massachusetts. But I question the mental ability of the person who is painting the building that isn't there. This is supposed to be a college student? What was his S.A.T. score?

But which is the most prolific sign? The most effective sign? The most prophetic sign?

FOR SALE!

Really, it's not that big!

by Bill Conlon

The new Tewksbury police station has been called the "Taj Mahal" by some lately. Those folks are a day late and a dollar short.

The plans for the new police station were open to public inspection, for months on end. There were many meetings of the Police Station Advisory Committee, and the plans were shown to the board of selectmen and others, but the public never showed up. There was never any secrecy about the new police station or its size or design. Everything was done in the open.

The police station blueprints would have taken up too much page space, so we didn't publish them in the Town Crier. Besides, most people's eyes begin to glaze over looking at blueprints for more than 10 seconds.

Now, rumors are starting to fly about the "Taj Mahal." Deputy Police Chief Walter Jamieson said one woman went up to the on-site contractors' trailer and asked if there was really an indoor running track inside the building. No kidding!

For the record: There is no swimming pool, there is no jacuzzi, there is no indoor running track, and the "gymnasium" will be a single room, 20 by 30 feet. The current police station has such an exercise room, down in the damp basement.

Police Chief John Mackey this week told selectmen that the building looks bigger because the roof is pitched, not flat-topped. The building's size was determined by the architects, Donham & Sweeney, based upon the police department's need for a building that would be adequate to the task for 20 years and more. Also, Mackey said, the building looks bigger still because it is located close to the street, and was elevated to avoid a high water table in the area. The building was pushed forward, Mackey said, to provide more parking at the rear of the new building.

More interesting still, the design of the police station had to be cut back, due to financial concerns. The original design of the new station offered an indoor pistol range, which has since been deleted.

Chief Mackey has invited anyone interested to come to the station, look over the floor plans, tour the current police station, tour the construction site for the new station, and even visit the police stations in other towns that Tewksbury's design borrowed from.

Please, folks. Relax. It's not really that big.

'She was biased against McCoy'

Dear Larz:

I am very happy to see the ABCC, an independent state board, made a decision that show's Mike McCoy was right and Diane Allan was wrong. She was biased against McCoy.

It all comes down that Mike McCoy voted to keep Mike Cairra as a town manager and she didn't.

I hope people can see because of the town manager vote Diane Allan has been against McCoy all her three years as selectman.

The editorial in this paper couldn't have said it any better how Diane Allan gets caught up into her politics.

Diane Allan has only one agenda: Diane Allan's.

Beautiful Wildwood

Dear Larz:

This past week my wife and I have commented more than once what a wonderful job the Town Employees have been doing sprucing up Wildwood Cemetery.

Wildwood is a special place for us as it is for many and after the long winter it was great to see the lawns and streets being swept instead of plowed.

On behalf of the many who frequent Wildwood, whether to be with loved ones, to meditate, jog, exercise or whatever, my wife and I extend a hearty "Well done" to those employees who have done an excellent job.

We look forward to Easter sunrise service at one of Wilmington's loveliest places.

Letters to the editor

Haldane, not running, likes McCoy, Mahoney

Dear Larz:

As the political season gathers steam at the outset of another baseball season, I sit on the sidelines watching each with intense interest. The selectmen's race is of particular interest to me, having chosen not to try out for the team this year.

On April 20, the voters will be choosing among veterans Mike McCoy and Diane Allan, and rookies Jim Mahoney and Michael Newhouse. Once again, the election falls during school vacation week, an issue which town leaders should address one of these years.

The race is an interesting contrast in styles, substance and strategies. Mike McCoy and I have spent most of our political lives on opposite sides of the fence. One of the great attributes of Americans is our inherent belief in forgiveness and second chances.

There was little Mike did on the board of selectmen during his first term with which I agreed. During his second term, there are few things with which I could take issue.

He was the deciding vote to reappoint the manager, a vote that required immense courage. He has been a champion of fiscally conservative government. He has matured greatly in the face of "baiting" by his opponents and unfair treatment at the hands of those who would destroy his business by denying a liquor license because of personal animus and a political debt to his estranged uncle.

I don't know who has forgiven whom or how the metamorphosis has occurred, but I consider Mike McCoy a good selectman and worthy of reelection.

Jim Mahoney believes that controlling the rate of residential growth is the fundamental step to planning for the future, maintaining services, dealing with long-term school overcrowding, stabilizing the tax rate and ensuring that the character of our neighborhoods is not destroyed by overbuilding.

While this idea struck me initially as being anti-property rights, my first impression was dead wrong. This is a good idea which is necessary if we are going to continue to provide quality services to the residents of the community without significant tax increases. Since Prop 2 1/2 overrides are about as popular in Wilmington as potholes, growth must be a planned, logical evolution.

Jim Mahoney is a homeowner, a business owner, a commercial property owner and a father of children in the school system. He has come to the race with a vision of where he wants to lead Wilmington. He knows ideas matter. He also has the important, but often overlooked, quality of being a very nice guy. Wilmington needs Jim Mahoney on the board of selectmen.

The current chairman is touting her leadership by taking credit for every good thing accomplished in town during the past three years. After three years of raving successes, why does she still need to "evaluate" the town manager?

She touts updating the Master Plan (an issue about which not 50 people in town care), while supporting rezoning at town meeting which is blatantly contrary to the Master Plan and would increase building density in those areas.

She brags of "economic development" and "open government" while refusing to hold public hearings on her town center centerpiece, a parking garage for the people of Billerica, Tewksbury, Lowell, etc. who will be taking the trains from Wilmington to Boston.

In the meantime, she has favored an increased tax shift on business, which already bears a disproportionate amount of the property tax burden. That is an odd way to attract business and improve the town center. In using other people's work as her own, Mrs. Allan has even used a quote in her latest advertisement which was lifted from the town manager's budget message from last January.

Then there is the issue of politics and personalities. Whether we like it or not, it is a real issue. The Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission has found that Mrs. Allan was biased when she voted against Selectman McCoy's liquor license. They have been pointing fingers at each other for most of their three years together on the board and it now appears (to me) that what Mr. McCoy has been telling us has been true, what Mrs. Allan has been arguing is not.

Mrs. Allan now arrogantly states that the ruling is only advisory and that she will participate in the upcoming discussions on the issue. Unfortunately, it is arrogance, not leadership, which has been the hallmark of her first term.

Mike Newhouse stated at the debate last week that no issue has brought him into the race. He opposes a growth by-law and is one of the attorneys supporting a case that would allow building on 5,000 square foot lots. He equivocated when it came to supporting the town manager, and based on sign locations and his own statements, seems to be teaming with Mrs. Allan on many issues.

Key issues face our community in the coming years. Mr. Mahoney and Selectman McCoy are the best candidates in this race. I urge the voters of Wilmington to support them.

Very truly yours,
Mark T. Haldane

Lepore one of finest

Dear Larz:

On March 23 the Town of Wilmington lost one of the finest doctors ever to serve a community.

Dr. Ralph Lepore was raised in Wilmington schools and healed the sick of thousands of citizens old and young.

This dedicated and caring man will never be forgotten. We all will sorely miss him.

Wayne Smith

Do away with roadwork police

Dear Larz:

There have been numerous public discussions about abolishing the Massachusetts law requiring that a police officer be on duty at construction/repair sites along the roadways.

I favor such a change, and would like to cite an experience I had this morning in support of my position. At 8:20 a.m. I drove down Butters Row, intending to make a left turn onto Route 38 and proceed to Tewksbury.

Making a left turn at this intersection is difficult under the best circumstances due to various factors (e.g., visual obstructions, coupled with the fact that the speed limit on Route 38 at this intersection is 45 m.p.h., etc.).

This morning as I approached the intersection I saw that there was large repair equipment set up in the eastbound lane of Route 38, and that once I turned left onto Route 38 I would have to drive on the left side of the road until I had passed the equipment. There was also equipment around the corner on Cross St., and a police officer was standing at the corner.

I thought that at least this morning, exiting onto Route 38 would not be difficult or hazardous, since I would have the assistance of a police officer who (I assumed) was there to maintain the flow of traffic and protect both motorists and repairmen.

When I came to a stop, preparing to turn left, I became aware that the policeman was not looking at the oncoming traffic; rather he was watching the workmen. After waiting for a few minutes there was a break in traffic and I was able to pull onto Route 38, onto the left side of the roadway, around the construction equipment, and finally into the right lane and be on my way.

A glance in the rear-view mirror indicated that the police officer was still watching the repairmen, with his back to the traffic.

I often drive in Maine, where civilian flagmen direct traffic at repair and construction sites; I cannot recall ever seeing a flagman watching the workers, and ignoring the traffic. If we in Massachusetts must have police at these sites, is it unreasonable to expect that they will direct traffic rather than look down into manholes or gaze up at workmen on utility poles?

Gerry O'Reilly reveals plan to cure Wilmington's space problems

Dear Larz:
Suggestion of a Solution to the issue of Overcrowding in the Wilmington School System.

When I entered the first grade at the Silver Lake School, it was double-sessioned. When I reached high school, the war was over, the lake cottages were winterized, and the baby boom began.

At that time, we were promised a brand new high school with "the works" - gym, auditorium, athletic complex, and room for 1,000 students. As you can quickly see, Wilmington has always short-changed its educational process, in an increasingly costly manner. "They" did not live up to their promises. They never do.

What We Were Promised

When the Davis property was available, They turned it down - the Davis property is now filled with homes. When the Roberts property was available, They turned it down - as we now see, this property is developed.

I was deeply involved when the Wildwood property was wanted in 1971. I talked with the chairman of the school committee and the President of the League of Women Voters, and They told me that They wanted Wilmington's schools to be like Andover's. When the voters decided otherwise, the chairman moved to Andover and the president moved to Reading - their belief in our system fizzled.

In 1972, the voters of the Town of Wilmington gave the selectmen the authority to buy property off of Salem Street for the purpose of placing a new high school in that area. The voters also gave the selectmen the authority to spend $40,000 for a feasibility study for building a new high school.

The Town of Wilmington purchased the property in a friendly land taking: 92 acres.

I suggest that the people of the Town of Wilmington rezone the Salem Street land to Residential-20 and sell that property for the highest competitive bid.

If the 92 acres were zoned R-20, it would consist of about 200 lots. But actually, with all the by-laws and codes considered, it would consist of about 175 lots.

Minimum value of a choice lot is $100,000. $100,000 x 175 lots = $17.5 million.

I would suggest that the winning bidder/developer have one element added to the sales agreement: that the developer build a fully-equipped 10-room school at his expense on the property that would then be deeded to the town when completed. The town would lend all of its expertise to and work with the developer in a timely and appropriate manner.

With $17.5 million in hand, the town would then have several options to consider. I present mine:

- Double the size of the Swain School and modernize the existing structure. ($8 million cost).

- Run sewer lines (the Swain they wanted to be hooked up.

- Purchase state-of-the-art technology for student use with up-grading built into the purchase. ($1 million cost).

- Upgrade the police station by adding 1,000 square feet to the present building in an appropriate manner. ($2.5 million cost).

- $4 million remains to lower taxes and to pay off town debts.

If you think the schools are crowded, visit the police station and you will fully understand why the Swain School is a second police station and police department.

I am sure that "They" will not be in favor of this proposal - but ask the voters/taxpayers for their opinions.

Remember that a 15-inch sewer line runs entirely through the Salem Street property. This fact alone increases the value of the property and its potential for use.

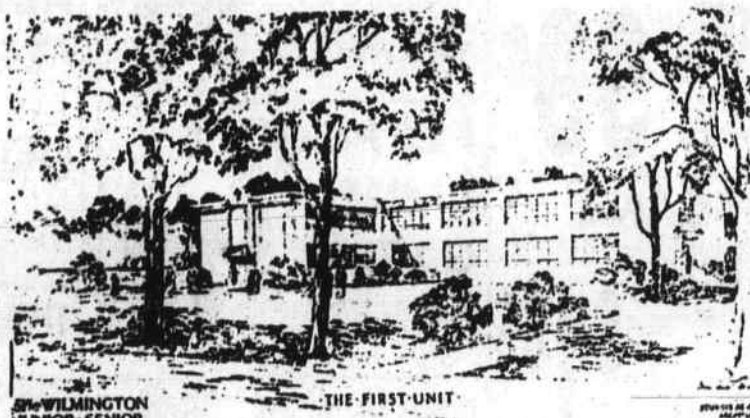

Remember also that somebody probably covets that property now and will in the future. But, as always stated, the future is now.

Ask the school consultant that is chosen in April to consider this site for residential use and the 10-room school. Also, has the $40,000 appropriation from 1972 been spent? If so, get the finished study for review.

For discussion,

Gerry O'Reilly

[This proposal did indeed come up for discussion when the four candidates for selectmen took the stage at the League of Women Voters candidates' night Monday at the Shawsheen School.]

Selectmen Chairman Diane Allan answered first, saying essentially that O'Reilly's plan, along with every other avenue, should be explored.

Selectman Michael McCoy offered to take it one step further.

"Gerry, I think that's a great idea, I support it," McCoy said.

Michael Newhouse applauded O'Reilly's creativity and active approach and offered a different possible use for the land: a municipal golf course.

Jim Mahoney said he felt that if the land were sold and developed, the burden of the new homes on the school system would in the end not make the venture worthwhile.-Ed.]

"I at this point don't have any real solutions," Zinan said of the technology issue, adding that she intends to listen and learn and gather information if elected.

Young was in an equally receptive mode on the busing matter.

"I need to hear from the people that it most affects," he said.

On the key issue, overcrowding, both were a little more effusive. Young said that while he would be hesitant to use the word "crisis" at present, in a short while that will be the best word. Zinan said she would favor reopening the Glen Road School (currently the Town Hall) and also a grade shift (fifth to the middle schools, eighth to the high school) but only as a quick fix and only if the parents were sufficiently heard. Young called a grade shift a "volatile issue."

In closing, Young pointed to his lone dissension on contract votes for Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell (who he said got too big a raise) and Business Manager Peter Rock (too big a salary). Zinan, advocating a diverse curriculum, offered a general overview of where she would like to see the schools.

"I believe that we should build a school system that even we are surprised at how good it is," she said.

Selectmen closed out the show, using more than half of the almost two hours the debate ran. For opening statements, only Mahoney really gave more than personal statistics, pushing his growth management by-law, on which he is basing his candidacy.

The first question, indicative of what has dominated town concerns, dealt with growth and how to increase that while maintaining the town's character. As with last week's live WCTV debate, none of the candidates shined, offering stock responses and pumping their own vague visions.

Ditto with town center. Mahoney had the most vibrant view here, speaking of a Route 38 corridor lined with landscaped berms, fewer curb cuts and better signage. Newhouse said that the center would be an appropriate place for a train station while Allan and McCoy both spoke of their respective plans and what they had done as selectmen to promote them.

By way of controversy, the issue of 5,000 square foot lots and an evaluation of Town Manager Michael Cairra was about it.

For the record, all four candidates said they opposed the small lots. McCoy, who had challenged Newhouse, an attorney associated with the relevant Woods Case, on his professional involvement, backed off, saying essentially his curiosity had been satisfied. Newhouse said that while as a lawyer he felt the town could not win the case (thus 5,000 square foot lots would be permitted), as a candidate he opposes them.

The town manager evaluation is McCoy's topic. Monday, Selectman Robert Cain polled the board from the audience in an attempt to elicit a response from Allan, who abstained from reappointing Cairra two years ago.

To emphasize his position - and attempt to weaken Allan's - McCoy prefaced his support of Cairra by stating "its one of the biggest votes you can ever make in this job."

Allan adhered to her position that she wants a formal evaluation process and will wait to cast a vote for Cairra until one is in place and completed. Both Newhouse and Mahoney agreed Cairra is doing a good job but would not say how they might vote in a year.

Cain tried to draw Allan out again, the next time asking each to rate the town manager. Allan sidestepped this by noting her "excellent working relationship" with the manager but opting not to give him a grade in lieu of an evaluation process.

Hobby show at Arts Center April 20

Those who attended the hobby show held at the Wilmington Arts Center in October of last year will be glad to know that there will be another such show this year at the Center. Last year's show was great and this year's promises to be even bigger and better! It is difficult to describe the size, beauty and detail of the models shown last year.

There were boats, planes, cars and trains - some of them huge.

The show is again under the direction of Roy Crane of Wilmington and those who have an interest in displaying their work are invited to contact him at 658-9798.

This year's show which is second annual show and which, hopefully will be one of many in years to come will be held at the Wilmington Center for the Arts Saturday, April 20 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Center is located on Rt. 62 across from the Congregational Church and is handicapped accessible.

Admission is free and the public is welcome, especially the children.

Jim Parks shows one of the owls he brought to Heath Brook School last Friday to students in the Extended Day Program (photo by Karen Miethe).

Let's see - that would be 10 birds in the bush

by Karen Miethe
Students involved in the extended day program of the Tewksbury Public Schools got a bird's eye view of some pretty impressive animals last Friday at the Heath Brook and Loella F. Dewing schools.

Licensed raptor rehabilitator Jim Parks of Wilmington was on-hand to show about 100 kids some of the birds he and his partner Julie Collier take care of at their partnership called "Wingmasters".

The kids watched as Parks handled with expertise a red-tailed hawk, a falcon, and three owls. When the falcon decided to demonstrate its piercing voice, most kids brought their hands to their ears pretty quickly.

Plan chronicles half year progress

The Tewksbury Public Schools Mid-Year Strategic Plan has been published and is available for public distribution. The report chronicles the mid-year progress of the school department in reaching the 1995-96 system wide goals. The goals fall into three major areas: curriculum and instruction, community involvement and school organization.

Some of the accomplishments in the area of curriculum and instruction include the alignment of the Middle School Curriculum with the recently adopted State Curriculum Frameworks, the establishment of a Unified Writing Committee to develop and implement a plan for strengthening students' skills in responding to open ended questions, the implementation of a new Science Curriculum for grades K-eight, the implementation of an Elementary Health Program, the establishment of an alternative Math Lab at Tewksbury Memorial High School and the implementation of a home/school contract at the John W. Wynn Middle School.

Work in the area of community involvement has included the preparation and distribution of marketing packet outlining the programs and services of the Tewksbury Public Schools, the establishment of the Tewksbury Public Schools, School to Career Executive Committee to oversee the work of the School to Career Program, the administration of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test to all 10th grade students and the collection and publication of the results of the parent survey conducted at the conclusion of the 1994-95 school year.

The efforts in the area of school organization have focused on the development of a short term housing plan for the Tewksbury Public Schools, to support the work of the Long Range School Space Committee and the evaluation of the first year implementation of the teacher evaluation tool.

Those interested in having a copy of the report should drop by the superintendent's office at 139 Pleasant St. The administration is proud to share this report with residents; the shareholders in the Tewksbury Public Schools.

Tewksbury senior topics

On behalf of the Council on Aging, a joyous and happy Easter is wished to all as is Passover for our Jewish residents.

Those people traveling to Foxwood Casino Monday, April 8, are reminded that motorcoach departure from the Senior Center will be 7 a.m. Please note that coffee will not be served on the way to Foxwood - so you'll definitely want to have that coffee prior to leaving home.

Tuesday, April 9, will be a very busy day at the Senior Center which begins with wood carving class in the morning at 9:30. At the request of the Golden Age President, we are noting that the GAC monthly meeting and election of officers will be held April 9 beginning at 1:30 p.m.

In the evening, the Tewksbury Piecemakers will meet in the Main Hall; diabetes support group will meet in the lobby and those people taking the SHARE Distribution Training will meet in the crafts room. All Tuesday meetings will begin at 7 p.m.

Those volunteers attending the COA and Friends Annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner Wednesday, April 10, are asked to note that the evening activities will begin at 5:30. There will be a seating arrangement for this event. If you have any seating requests, please speak to Linda Brabant prior to the event.

Friday, April 12, the seniors will be traveling to Yokens for lunch and a visit to its gift shop. Travelers should make note that home pickups will begin at approximately 9:30 a.m. and departure from the Senior Center will be at 10:15.

As we swing into spring, the month of April continues to be buzzing with activity at the Senior Center. On April 14, the seniors will hold their first Sunday Breakfast Benefit of the year. Pancakes, scrambled eggs, bacon, hash browns, beans, cinnamon bread and beverages will be served from 7:30 to 11. Tickets may be purchased at the door at the following prices: adults $4; children 12 and under $2; and, toddlers free. All proceeds from the breakfast will benefit the purchase of a motorized Lark Cart for the Senior Center.

The Senior Center will be closed April 15, Patriot's Day as the seniors rest up for the remainder of the week and the following additional activities: an activities meeting on Tuesday, April 16, 9:30 a.m. (we'll be planning for the Memorial Day Parade - all are welcome); a rag doll craft decoration project on Wednesday, April 17 at 9:30 a.m. (those interested must register and make a payment of $5 for supplies by April 10 with Carol Hazel); in the afternoon of April 17, Helen DeVincent, RN of American Home Care will conduct the first "Stroke Support Group Meeting" at the Senior Center which will take place from 2 to 4 p.m. (stroke victims, family members and friends are welcome to this meeting); and, the finale of the week will be the Senior Center giant yard sale which takes place Saturday, April 20 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

It's now time to start that spring cleaning and reserve a table space at the giant yard sale. One may reserve a table by contacting Linda Brabant or Carol Hazel at the Senior Center. A $10 donation is due upon reservations. The public is welcome to participate. The event is held rain or shine and all proceeds will benefit the senior's Memorial Day activities. At the yard sale we also feature a bake sale table and luncheon favorites from the kitchen crew so be sure to mark your calendars for this event.

Donations for the Senior Center tables are now being accepted. We request that any large items be taken down to the Senior Center either the day before or the day of the yard sale.

The next monthly dance social will be held Friday, April 26. The evening will include a buffet beginning at 6:30 which will be followed by the live music of Jim Sutton and the Perfect Match Band. Tickets are now available.

Some of the seniors have requested that we do a trip to the "Ice Chips" event is held at a college rink in Boston. We'll be working on plans for this trip which will take place at the end of the month. For more information, call the Senior Center or watch for details in next week's column. Have a great week!

State Treasury lists unclaimed property

State Treasurer Joe Malone announced that the Treasurer's Office has compiled a list of individuals and organizations who have money waiting for them under the Commonwealth's abandoned property law.

This list will be published in the form of a free-standing insert in the Boston Sunday Herald on February 25, 1996, and in the Boston Sunday Globe on March 3, 1996, and will also appear in daily and weekly newspapers throughout the state during the week of March 25, 1996 and April 1, 1996.

"This year, over $85 million has been turned over to my office as unclaimed property," Malone said. "I urge every citizen to check the abandoned property listing because we are eager to return all of this money to its rightful owners."

Under Massachusetts' abandoned property law, accounts which have been inactive for more than three years are declared abandoned and turned over to the Treasurer's Office for safekeeping. Unclaimed property consists of any financial asset that has not had any owner-generated activity for an extended period of time. This includes savings accounts, checking accounts, unpaid wages or commissions, stocks, underlying shares, uncashed dividends, customer deposits or over payments, certificates of deposit, credit balances, refunds, money orders, paid up life insurance policies and uncashed benefit checks.

In accordance with Massachusetts' Unclaimed Property Act, property becomes "unclaimed" when there is no owner-generated activity on a financial asset for a three year period, 15 years in the case of travelers checks. Under the law, the "holders" (banks, insurance companies, businesses, etc.) must make a determined effort to locate the true owner. If they are unsuccessful, they are to report the names and last known addresses of the owners to the Treasurer's Office, where additional efforts are made to locate the owners. The money is then deposited in the General Fund. There is no time limit on claiming abandoned property. Owners and their heirs need not pay a finder's fee to anyone to claim what rightfully belongs to them. All funds accrue interest until claimed.

Anyone who sees their name on the unclaimed property list may call the Treasurer's Office at (617) 367-0400, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or write to: State Treasury, Unclaimed Property Division, One Ashburton Place, 12th floor, Boston, Massachusetts 02108. When writing or calling, respondents should give the name as it appears on the list, plus current address, address three years ago, social security number, and daytime telephone number.

Finding opportunities at the Summer Opportunities Fair

by Karen Miethe

In an attempt to help parents find activities for their kids to do after school and over the summer, the Townwide Parents Advisory Council sponsored the fourth annual "Children's Summer Opportunity Fair" at the John Wynn Middle School Tuesday night.

Principals from all the schools in Tewksbury were on-hand to meet and greet parents and students. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Christine L. McGrath was also involved at the popular event, helping to answer questions and set up displays.

Said McGrath, "This year is different in that we have groups that offer year round and after school programs as well as programs for the summer months."

According to McGrath, the 40 organizations who participated donated $20 each, which will go towards the building of the new library. Proceeds from a bake sale held at the fair will also go towards the new building.

"It is a good night for the school district and a great night for the town," said McGrath.

The organizations represented were: All-Pro Basketball School; Andover Soccer Camp; Billerica Boys Club; Birch Rock Camp -

Maine; Broadway Dance Academy; Camp Frank A Day; Camp Nawaka; Camp Rotary; Camp Winnekeag; Children's World Learning Center; Community Education; Community Health Institute/Winchester Hospital; Country Mouse; Cub Scouts of America; Dancenergy; Donna Miceli Dance; Ed Walsh Hockey School; Future Problem Solvers; Future Scientists and Engineers; Greater Lowell Family YMCA; Lowell General Hospital Programs; Mass. ## Group will explore relationships

Relationships: Is There Such a Thing as Loving Too Much? Have you ever wondered why you continue to choose relationships with people who are emotionally unavailable? Or do you find yourself consistently in abusive relationships? Or do you too often put others' needs before your own and have difficulty saying "no" to those you love?

"Yes" answers suggest you may be trapped in a pattern of relationships where your loving seems to keep you from getting your needs met. This group will explore these patterns, the reasons for repeating them, and how to develop healthier relationships in which one's own needs are met. Led by Karl Peters, LICSW, this group will meet for 10 weeks on Monday evenings from 7 to 8:30 beginning April 22.

To pre-register for this group call Dr. Carol Golub at the Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Inc., at 508-658-9889 by Thursday, April 18. As a non-profit agency, fees are negotiated on an individual basis depending upon insurances, community, and income.

Hat Day at Women's Club annual meeting

At its annual meeting on Thursday, April 18, the ladies of the Wilmington Women's Club are asked to wear a hat! Not all that long ago a "lady" would not have dreamed of appearing at a public event without a hat! Or gloves. But enough for now.

Luncheon will be served at noon by a committee chaired by Claire Burns and Andrea Houser assisted by Helene Ahearne, Jeanne Boeri, Evelyn Gibbs, Mary Gosselin, Doris Haradon, Jessie Hudson, Catherine Jensen, Dorothy Lafionatis, Helen Noonan, Margery Spear, Rita Stone. President Edith Michelson will give the invocation.

Reservations for the annual luncheon to be held at the Colonial Restaurant in Lynnfield later in the spring will be taken. After a business meeting which is in April, the annual meeting and a silent auction will be held. Members are asked to take suitable items to be auctioned.

"Wilmington is a beautiful town" - French student

by Karen Miethe

Imagine for a second never having eaten a doughnut, never having worn sneakers to school, and not having seen beepers in school. If you can picture that, then you can guess how 14 French exchange students feel who are currently staying with Wilmington residents and attending Wilmington High School.

This exchange program comes after Wilmington High School students and their coordinator, Joyce Beckwith, spent time in France last February. These students hail from Saint Michel's High School in Remis, which is 80 miles Northeast of Paris, and they arrived Monday, April 1.

They will be in Wilmington for the rest of this week before departing Monday for New York from Logan Airport.

At a welcoming breakfast Tuesday, French students sampled, some of them for the first time, real American early morning treats: doughnuts, bagels with cream cheese, and orange juice.

"Very good, not bad at all," one French student remarked after sniffing a doughnut suspiciously.

All of the students and parents who are sponsoring the French students are thrilled with the prospect. Said mother Debbie Selig, "It's been wonderful, Claire [the French student Selig has sponsored] has been great, she is so sweet. I really give these kids a lot of credit. It's been a great experience so far."

One French student named Mathias commented on the major differences he noticed between France and America: "Each classroom has a big American flag in it, and that is strange to me. Americans have a different way of dressing, we never heard of wearing sneakers to school before. America has so much space, beautiful landscaping." His friend Vincent agrees. "Beautiful town," he said of Wilmington.

The students will be immersed in "American" things to see and do this week during their time in Massachusetts. On Tuesday, they were scheduled to go into Boston to the State House to meet with Representative James Miceli and to take a tour of the Freedom Trail.

Beckwith managed to find the only French speaking park ranger in Boston to take the students on the tour. They wrapped up the day in Quincy Market for dinner. Thursday, they were scheduled to travel to the Museum of Science in Boston, and attend a pot luck dinner sponsored by one of the parents in the program.

There were also set to attend a jazz music program put on by the Wilmington High School band at the West Middle School. For Friday, a trip to Plymouth Plantation has been planned along with a pizza party and a party for the students that night hosted by Bob Young. They will also be attending Easter services on Sunday.

One thing was made clear, however. The kids are glad to be here and are enjoying all the different sights, sounds, smells, and tastes America has to offer.

"Things are different, but I like it," one student said.

Pledging to wipe out prejudice

by Karen Miethe

Students at the West Intermediate School in Wilmington are doing their part to wipe out bigotry and prejudice.

This week was named "A World Of Difference Week" by Governor William Weld. School guidance counselor Barbara Kolodner, along with seventh graders Eric Farrell and Julie Swartwout attended a workshop on Friday, March 22, that helped give ideas on how kids can put an end to harassment in all its forms.

"It was really interesting," said Swartwout. "I learned what I can do about prejudice."

On Tuesday morning, homeroom period was extended so that every student could sign a contract made up by the Anti-Defamation League that said, in part, "I pledge from this day onward to do my best to interrupt prejudice and to stop those who, because of hate, would hurt, harass or violate the civil rights of anyone ... I firmly believe that one person can make A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE and that no person can be an 'innocent bystander' when it comes to opposing hate."

Other activities are going on during the week such as art teachers are having students draw outlines of their hands and then writing five things about themselves that are unique. These hands will then be posted all around the school.

"This will be an ongoing thing," said Kolodner. "It will extend from this week onward."

BEATING CAPITAL GAINS
Occasionally the winds blow favorably from Washington, D.C. to the homeowner. The $125,000 exemption from real estate capital gains tax is one of the best examples of this kind of "windfall". How does one qualify for this exemption? You or your spouse must be 55 years or older, and you must have owned and occupied the house as your principal residence for three out of the last five years prior to the sale. These three years do not need to be consecutive, and only one of you needs to qualify if you own the home jointly. If you are married and own your house jointly, but file income tax separately, each of you can deduct $62,500. This does not affect or eliminate the older rule which permits a seller to postpone paying capital gains tax on their profit if they buy another house more expensive than one they just sold. This makes it possible to roll over the gains until you or your spouse are 55, thus beating capital gains on $125,000 of profit forever.

19 years of smiles

by Karen Miethe

It takes part dedication, part love, and a whole lot of patience to be a school secretary. Valerie Rogers of the North Street School knows a little bit about that. And well she should - she has been at the school for 19 years, and is still going strong. She's been a Tewksbury resident for going on 29 years.

Rogers started at the school in March of 1977. Edward Devine was the principal and John Wynn was the Superintendent of Schools. Over those 19 years, Rogers has witnessed a lot of changes, such as more and more students are coming from families where both parents work, but one thing has not changed, her love for the students.

"I enjoy kids. It's almost like a family extension. I can tell people I have 500 children," she laughs.

Even though her job is hectic ("It's chaos," she grins), Rogers always has a smile for any student or parent, or reporter, who comes through her office door.

"It is rewarding, personally. It's a nice feeling. Sometimes it's frustrating, but I love my job. People think I'm crazy," she said.

There are no "average days" in Rogers line of work.

"No two days are alike," Rogers says with a sigh.

As well as answering phones, taking messages, and just basically doing it all, Rogers also organizes school registrations, absentee lists, student transfers, updates records, purchase orders, notices for students to bring home, and school bus routes. Whew.

"Because I've been doing it so long, I don't even think about it," she said, adding with a sly smile, "Sometimes I answer the phone at home by saying 'North Street School.'"

So why, you may ask, does she do it? If you ask her, she'll tell you honestly and simply, "It's the kids. They are the best part of my job."

Sometimes they make my day, and some days I make theirs."

What Rogers finds amusing about her line of work is that the kids tend to think that she does not have an outside life.

"They are surprised to see me shopping, and they whisper to their parents who I am. They like to check out what is in my shopping cart. It's like, goodness, Mrs. Rogers buys stuff," she laughs.

So the next time you need to see a warm smile, hear a hearty laugh or just a kind face, do what thousands of kids have done over the past 19 years - stop in at the North Street School and ask for Mrs. Rogers. It is worth the trip.

Stone's in the Garden

Last season was a doosey!

What will this year bring?

by Jackie Leszczak-Stone

Normally the signs of spring are uplifting, but today's walk around the garden was genuinely depressing. The harshness of last summer's drought and the winter's record snow left a trail of death and devastation.

For the first time in several years the lawn will need serious attention (bare patches abound). Trials left by mice and moles to their favorite winter feeding grounds are in evidence throughout the lawn and gardens. They have feasted on the roots of my favorite perennials, leaving only sandy patches behind. And now skunks or perhaps a family of skunks have discovered that newly thawed shrubs and flower beds are actually an "all you can eat smorgasbord." What's the use? Why do I garden? Why not pave over the entire lot, paint it green and call it a garden?

Such questions rarely creep into my thoughts, but spring renovations can look daunting. Any changes in what was a hard earned colorful bonanza can be disappointing. But that is what gardening is about....change and challenge. Annual variations in the weather, death and rebirth with the seasons, experiments that succeed and some that fail are all part of the adventure of gardening. (Just think...the early colonists might have jumped on the boat and gone back to Old England if all years in New England had summers like '95 or winters like '96.)

So cancel the garden pity. I wanted to make some changes and improvements anyway! With a little effort this year's garden will be better than any other year. And in accordance with nature's ways, it would have turned out differently whether I wanted change or not!

Chores this week included raking the lawn. Months of heavy snow cover has left the grass matted and tangled. A light raking (or even a quick mow in the mulching mode) will fluff up last season's blades, bringing air and light to the new shoots. It is also important to rid the lawn of any leaves. New grass shoots will not fare well under old oak leaves.

If you haven't started seedlings indoors...it's still not too late. Remember...the seeds of hot weather plants, tomato, peppers, eggplants etc. need six to eight weeks before they go in the garden. April 1 marked the six week point. (Our tomato and pepper seedlings are up and growing!). This week we will plant annual flowers including marigolds, celosia and alyssum. Cucumbers and squash seeds will be planted in peat pots, to avoid disturbing their tender roots, around April 15.

Obituary

Domenic DeGrazia

Wilmington's music man for 32 years

Domenic DeGrazia of Lexington, retired member of Wilmington's School Music Department, died Monday, April 1, 1996 following a lengthy illness.

The beloved Mr. D. joined the Wilmington School System in 1949 as a part-time instrumental teacher and in the early 50s was appointed Director of Music, a position he held until 1968 when he resigned as director and returned to teaching.

For many years, a parade just wasn't a parade without that wonderful Wilmington High School Marching Band strutting proudly along the route with the Mr. D. alongside; cane in hand.

In 1961 he composed a three act play "Mardi Gras" which was performed by the Wilmington Teachers Association (WTA) here and in several surrounding towns, benefiting the WTA's Scholarship Fund.

In 1964 Mr. D. collaborated with his friend and associate, music instructor, Lorraine Kalil collaborated to produce another musical, Push Carts, also performed by the WTA and benefiting the Scholarship Fund. The group presented Push Carts in the area again in 1978; again benefiting the WTA Scholarship Fund.

From 1969 to his retirement in 1981, he assembled and led Wilmington's Elementary Band, composing most of its repertoire.

He composed a curriculum of music history, harmony and theory and assumed the duties of string teacher in the elementary and high school bands.

Shortly after his retirement, Wilmington High School Band, under the direction of Barbara Mette marched to Mr. D's home and honored him playing his own arrangements of Christmas Carols.

All who knew him would agree that his friendly, outgoing and helpful personality did a great deal to bring musicians, teachers, and the administration together in working for a single cause - the good of Wilmington's Schools.

He began his music studies at the age of seven under the tutelage of his father, Michael DeGrazia. He studied with Dr. Pierino DiBlasio of the New England Conservatory; Alexander Romanesque, celebrated Romanian concert violinist; Gladys Posselt of Boston University; Emanuel Ondercek, internationally known pedagogue of violin; and Msgr. Francis X. Sallaway, National Director of Sacred and Church Music Programs.

He was a member of the Artist Ensemble of Boston and New York and performed at the New York World's Fair. He was a member of the Metropolitan and People's Orchestra under the direction of the renowned Fabian Sevitsky.

In 1942, Mr. DeGrazia enlisted in the Army and served with the 82nd Airborne Division. He was director of music a Camp Croft, S.C. and appeared as assistant violin artist to Yehudi Menuhin, famed concert violist. He was broadcast manager of Washington, D.C., the Marine Band of Quantico, Va., and the Rochester-Henrietta Symphony Orchestra.

Domenic, formerly of Somerville, Medford and Arlington, was a resident of Lexington for the past 39 years. He was a life member of VFW- George Kilboy, Post 529, Somerville; Life Member of DAV Post 49, Arlington and of American Legion Post #327, Mission Hill.

He leaves his wife, of over 52 years, Angela (Amoruso); three daughters, Patricia DeGrazia, Petruvage and her husband John of Woburn; Roberta DeGrazia Migliacci and her husband John of Milford; Mary Angela DeGrazia DiTucci and her husband Frank of Woburn and five grandchildren, Marie and Matthew Petruvage of Woburn and John, Nicola and Christina Migliacci of Milford.

In addition he was the brother of Joseph M. DeGrazia of Lexington; the late Frank DeGrazia of Franklin; Mary Tavaglione of Lexington.

He was the son of the late Michael and Rose (Tavaglione) DeGrazia; uncle of Michael DeGrazia of Waltham, Joseph DeGrazia Jr. and his wife Linda and son J.D. of Bedford, Marie Daddario, Frank DeGrazia, Michael DeGrazia of Franklin and Theresa Raciti of Lexington and innumerable loving friends, students and former students.

Funeral services will be held from the Douglass Funeral Home, 51 Worthen Road, Lexington, Monday, April 8 followed by a mass of Christian Burial at the Church of St. John The Evangelist, Cambridge. Inerment at Westview Cemetery, Lexington. Relatives and friends kindly invited to attend.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Wilmington's music staff and alumni, some from 30 years ago, will will offer some compositions at his funeral and WHS trumpeters and drummers will play Taps at the cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy in Dominic's memory may be made to the American Society of Adults With Psuedo-Obstruction, Inc., 405 Walnut St., #331, P.O. Box 9175, Lexington, MA 02173-9175. Non-profit charitable organization for education/research of this rare digestive disease

Cakes by Charlie has been in operation for over twelve years, but Owner/Operator Charlotte Guthrie has been creating breathtaking cakes for Weddings and special occasions for over twenty-seven years. This past year she prepared over 600 – as many as 25 per week during her busy season of May/June and September/October.

Looking for a cake for your special occasion? Cakes by Charlie can create the perfect cake for any event! Weddings are their specialty, but they'll be happy to design and create a cake for your Bridal or Baby Shower, Anniversary, Bar Mitzvah, Christmas Party, Birthday, Company Event, Retirement Party, Adult Party, or any other occasion. Power Rangers, Lion King, and Barney may currently be some of the more popular children's themes, but don't underestimate Charlotte. She'll design nearly anything you can imagine. Samples of her specialty work include a cake adorned with a 1960 Corvette, various business logos, and even a three dimensional UPS Truck which fed 1,150, and took five people to lift!

Charlotte Guthrie puts the finishing touches on a wedding cake.

Charlotte's cakes are available in two basic styles: traditional – created primarily for slicing and wrapping, and dessert – three layers of moist cake, topped with two layers of luscious filling. Choose from sixteen flavors of cake, four creamy frostings, and sixteen luscious fillings. Prices range from $1.50 - $3.80 per slice, based on 100 or more servings. Pricing on smaller cakes is available.

Cakes by Charlie is located at 32 Park Street, Wilmington. Clients are seen by appointment only, please. To arrange for an appointment, or to inquire about a taste testing, call Charlotte at 508-658-4190 or 1-800-498-4190.

Control Residential Growth

My Growth Management By-Law is NOT a MORATORIUM on building.
It's a common sense, short-term step toward long-term prosperity for all!

- The Town of Wilmington needs to adopt a growth management by-law not a building moratorium which will guarantee that growth happens in an orderly fashion. This will allow time to evaluate the impact on public safety and schools.
- I propose as part of the by-law that we limit the number of building permits for new homes over a 24 month period.
- There are proposals for 5,000 sq. ft. lots which would change the appearance of our town to that of a city. We are all attracted to Wilmington because of its character, these proposals will certainly alter that character.
- The infrastructure and school overcrowding along with an unstable tax rate are all directly related to uncontrolled growth.

The Master Plan is the future. Controlling growth today will give us a future.

Wilmington seniors

Lunch, anyone?

Nutritionist Ann Quinn at Wilmington High School is wondering why seniors are not taking advantage of the lunch program offered there. The price of the meal, $1.00, is minimal when compared to other towns that range from $1.25 to $1.95 a meal. Another difference at our lunch site Ann has a variety of meals, where in other towns there is but one standard meal served. Ann is aware that some seniors may not want the full course meal everyday. She realizes they may prepare only a sandwich, salad and soup along with a desert for lunch. Whatever you select the price is only $1. Why cook a big meal for yourself, if alone, or for two if married, when you can go to the high school senior lunch site and get either of the above mentioned meals for $1.

Later in the evening if you want something light you can make yourself a light snack. Ann is trying very hard everyday to prepare meals to satisfy all seniors. If you have not tried the meals, call the center around 9 a.m. we will order you a meal.

Craft room cases filling up

The glass cases in the craft room are filling up with beautiful articles made by seniors who would like to sell them. When we are not using the glass cases for fair articles, the senior can put any articles they make in them. Whether they are knitted, crocheted, sewn, wood, ceramic or painted. When sold by one of our volunteers the money made it. This is a good way to help a senior in need. We have a good number of seniors who have a tremendous amount of talent and could use some extra money. We can all help them by purchasing one of their beautiful articles and by letting others know, (young and elderly) who are looking for something to give as a gift to check the glass cases in the craft room at the Senior Center. You can make a senior very happy. One thing we ask. If you are putting an article in the cases, put your name on it and the price you are asking for it.

April 5 is Good Friday. The Center will be open all day. School and Minuteman Home Care will be closed, therefore meals will not be served or delivered. Any senior who is considered a shutin, may order an extra meal any day this week for Friday.

April has been named Rabies Awareness Month in Massachusetts. Rabies is a deadly disease, carried by raccoons, bats, skunks, foxes, woodchucks and other mammals including unvaccinated dogs and cats, especially stray cats. April has been selected as Awareness Month to increase efforts in raising public awareness about the disease. It is important to protect yourself and others against this deadly disease. Animals with rabies have been found in more than 85 percent of Massachusetts towns and cities.

Humans can contract rabies if bitten or scratched by a rabid animal or by the animals' saliva if it gets into an open wound. Stray cats, as most are unvaccinated can give the disease to a house cat, if the house cat comes in contact with a rabid stray cat. Rabies vaccines for dogs and cats is most important and is effective to keep pets and humans from contracting this deadly disease. You should have your pet vaccinated in Massachusetts as it is a law. Feed your pet inside the house. Do not allow your pet to roam freely especially into swamp areas, as these areas are where many rabid animals live. Avoid stray animals. Never approach a wild animal, dog or cat even though it may look tame. Wear gloves when handling pets who have been injured, even when taking them to a veterinarian. Secure your trash cans and cap your chimneys so the animals cannot get into the house. If you do get bitten or scratched by a wild or stray animal, do not take any chances, wash the wound immediately and see a doctor.

Never pick up a dead mouse or rat, with your bare hands, use gloves, then destroy the gloves. Warn your children not to pick up or touch a dead mouse or rat. No one can be too careful, with the large number of raccoons, woodchucks, skunks and squirrels in this area. We all want to enjoy the spring and summer months and we will if we keep in mind all animals are not friendly, approach them with caution.

After sub-par year, softball team looking to regain past form

by James Pote

Last year it was a simple case of not having any luck with them whatsoever. Seven seniors graduated which included several of the best players in the Merrimack Valley Conference.

After a sub-par 9-11 season after winning two division two state titles, the Wilmington High School Varsity Softball team hope there will be a new pot of luck that will land in their laps for this season.

The first pitch in their first year in the Cape Ann League will be delivered on Thursday, April 11 at Chelmsford, with their league opener the following day at Manchester.

This year's team is a very unique mix. The team has three seniors, with Leanne Harris and Nicole Dussault making up the left side of the infield at short and third, respectively, while, Kelly Landers will return as on the two starting pitchers.

They also have six juniors, which include catcher Lisa Southmayd and the other of the two pitchers in Amy Surran. And they have four sophomores, which include the right side of the infield in Catherine Townsend at second and Melissa Mather at a new position at first base.

Head coach Paul Lyman in his seventh year at the helm, said even though the players themselves do not lack individual experience, they do however lack team experience. Thus far in his team's 4-3-1 preseason games, Lyman likes what he has seen for the most part.

"We are basically a young team with just three seniors on it. Our weakness might be team experience, but we have some great athletes on this team," Lyman said. "So far we have to work on some things, but our defense, especially the infield, in the preseason scrimmages has looked real good. Our pitching looks good, too - we haven't given up more than four runs in any of our scrimmages. And they are a lot farther than I ever thought they would be."

"We haven't hit that well, but I'm really not concerned with that yet. Our strength is definitely our team speed. We have a lot of really fast runners who will create a lot of runs

Obviously, the team's success will depend upon the three keys: 1) pitching; 2) defense and 3) offense and creating runs.

Pitching will be a huge key this season. Last year, Kelly Landers and Amy Surran platooned after being thought as the third and fourth pitchers at this time a year ago. Landers finished a great season at 4-3 and two saves and an 1.89 ERA which was best in the MVC small school conference. Surran, the faster of the two, also had a fine season last year finishing at 3-2. Both of them will again share the roles this year, with

Open softball tournament

There will be an open co-ed Early Bird Softball Tournament, to be played at Aprile Field at the Town Park in Wilmington starting the week of April 15.

This tournament is open to anyone. It will be a double elimination tournament. The cost per team is $100.00. It will also be a two balls and two strikes count.

The deadline for sign-up will be April 12. Call Jack Cushing to sign-up at 657-7002.

New football coach is hired as Sullivan will not be returning

by James Pote

After three years and a 6-25 record as the head football coach at Wilmington High School, Gerry Sullivan will not be returning for the 1996 season.

On Wednesday morning, WHS Athletic Director Jim Gillis and his selection panel of North Intermediate Principal Doug Anderson and WHS Acting Principal Eddie Woods, decided on a new coach. Gillis said he could not yet release the identity of the new coach because Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell was out until Monday and has to approve any decision. Even though it was a unanimous decision among the panel, under the Education Reform Act of 1991, superintendents are responsible for the hiring and firing of all athletic coaches.

All coaches in Wilmington are required to reapply for their jobs after each season.

Gillis said that he had 18 applicants for the opening. Of those they first narrowed it down to seven and then two. Gillis said he was very impressed with both finalists and it took the panel a few days to decide which one was better for the job.

Before the 1995 season began, Sullivan said he thought he told Gillis that he probably would not return after the season. Sullivan said with what he called fundraising hassles and being afforded just three assistant coaches, he could not continue with the job. But after the season had ended Sullivan said when he went to go pick up his paycheck, he told Gillis that he wanted to return for one more season to see the kids he started out with graduate.

However, Gillis said that Sullivan told him before the year started that he will not be back. So Gillis said he went out searching for a new coach. And when Sullivan told him he wanted to come back, Gillis said that Sullivan had to reapply with the rest of the 17 candidates. Gillis said Sullivan was one of four finalists and that he hates to see Sullivan not coming back.

"Gerry is a great kid, I really like him," Gillis said. "When he told me that he was not coming back, I had to go out and find a new coach. We just thought the other two finalists had stronger backgrounds."

Sullivan said Gillis asked him to withdraw his name when it was narrowed to the four finalists. But Sullivan said he would be stabbing the kids he coached in the back since he told them he was coming back.

"I was never given any concrete reasons why I am not coming back," Sullivan said. "I did open the can of worms a little bit when I told [Gillis] that I might not be back at the start of the year. When I told him at the end of the year that I wanted to come back for one last year, he told me to reapply with everyone else. I took the team when no one else wanted to, so I guess you have to question the above authority since they don't know where their loyalties are.

"I'm not going to bash Jimmy and he isn't going to bash me. He is not stupid. He didn't make the decision himself. But, I'm kind of pissed off and hurt. I took them when no one else wanted to. I just want to know the reasons why I am not coming back. People will be pissed off if they don't know the reasons either. The kids will want to know too because they signed a petition to get me back."

"We did everything we could have the past three years. The first year I wasn't named coach until late August; the second year we had the death of Shane Warford so that was tough and this past year we are starting to turn things around. If

Wilmington boys tennis team looking to continue last year's success

by James Pote
After having one of their best seasons in some time to remember, the Wilmington High School boys tennis team with one of their biggest turnouts with 24, will be looking to improve their 10-8 record from a year ago in a new league in which they know absolutely nothing about.

Head coach Mike Tammamo said that he had heard that the Cape Ann League as a whole is a little better than the Merrimack Valley Conference was. The CAL doesn't have an Andover or Chelmsford to whack the rest of the league around, but they don't have the several very sub-par teams that the MVC has usually every year. In any case, Tammamo said at the start of the season, not knowing their opposition might hurt them, but he also is very excited about getting the season going with some key veterans as well as some inexperienced rookies.

Danny King, who had the team's best winning percentage last year as the number two singles player, returns for his final year as the head honcho, the number one singles player. Tammamo said juniors Keith McLaren and Tom Perreault, who formed the very impressive doubles tandem from last year, will be looked upon as the number two and three singles players, but he is not sure as of yet which one will be in which slot.

"I think our strengths will be our singles players. They are pretty seyt and they look very good," said Tammamo.

"We also have such great kids on the team. The feeling is very good even though we lost several players. They understand that some of them might not play as much as they would like to, but they are a very enthusiastic bunch of kids," Tammamo continued.

As for the doubles tandems, Tammamo said he wasn't sure what his line-up would be, but he said Kosta Radosavljevic, Tom Casselli, Mike Gargan and Marc Merrima are the front runners for the four spots. But, Tammamo also said players like Greg Anderson and Doug Bonnarigo, both juniors and sophomores, Dave Fish, Mike Garbati, Matt Haggert, Todd Konieczka, Hung Nguyen as well as freshmen Chris Cassidy, Kenny Chin, Jason Criszeno, Ralph Patterson, Randy Peach, Kevin Riley, Tim Smith and Kenny Stokes all will be pressing for starting jobs as well.

The team will open its season up at WHS against Newburyport on Wednesday, April 10 at 3:30.

Once again, Wilmington Youth Wrestlers impressive

On Saturday March 30, the Wilmington P.A.L. Youth Wrestling Team traveled to Tyngsboro for the first annual "Cat Open." The dual meet had the Wilmington Wildcats taking on the Tigers of Tyngsboro. There were 28 matches in all with each team winning 14. Wilmington, won the meet by outscoring the Tigers 70-61 which included many outstanding performances by the junior high wrestlers.

The meet began with Ryan Pilcher defeating Todd Foley by default, as Foley was unable to continue due to injury. This put Wilmington ahead 6-0. Rob Rogers followed with a victory by pin fall over Dan Whitman, giving Wilmington a 12-0 lead.

Tyngsboro cut the lead to 12-6 as Evan Serty pinned Adam Jensen. Chris Minghella pushed Wilmington ahead, 18-6, by pinning Mike Wironen.

The Tigers again closed the gap to six points when Mike Sullivan pinned Wilmington Mike Bonnell making the score 18-12. Wilmington's lead went to 21-18 after Sean McCarthy decisioned Rick Garland 5-4. Adam DePasquale followed with a pin over Marc Reid and the Wildcats were ahead 27-18.

Tyngsboro responded with Justin Schwartz winning an overtime decision against Joe Cotto. Blake Kerrigan followed with a pin over Wilmington's Ryan Jensen and the teams were even 27-27. The Wildcats then went on a four match roll with Ryan Layton pinning Marc Player, and Matt Minghella winning a major decision, 10-1.

Over Adam Cuiopa, Pat Cucinotta winning a 5-4 decision over Dan Collins, and Rob Rogers pinning Josh Spencer. The Wildcats appeared to be in control with a 46-27 lead.

Tyngsboro answered by winning four matches of their own as Matt

Louiselle defeated Mike Heffernan by technical fall 15-0, Pat Heffernan was then defeated by Greg Bernier in another tech fall 17-2. Alex Kyriacopoulos then decisioned Mark Jepson 8-5, and Wilmington's Dan Bonnell lost a 6-1 decision to cut the Wilmington lead to three points 46-43.

Josh Hiltz increased the lead to 52-43 with a quick pin over Eric Reid. Tyngsboro's Ryan Kearney followed with a major decision over Jason Langone 10-1 and Keith Gauvin decisioned Wilmington's Russ Hubby 7-4 and the lead was down to two points at 52-50.

Tyngsboro took its first lead at 53-52 when Ryan Powell decisioned the Wildcats Adam Vogel 3-1. Jason Langone regained the Wilmington lead by pinning David Taylor to make the score 58-53. Adam Jensen then lost a close 2-0 decision to the Tigers Josh Maislin to bring the score to 58-56 Wilmington.

Jeff Hodder made it 61-56 with a 6-4 decision over Brian Clemens. Tyngsboro's Jim Mercier defeated John DePasquale on a technical fall 15-0 and the teams were even, 61-61, with two matches to go. Chris Minghella regained the lead for Wilmington with a 5-0 decision over David Taylor.

In the final match, Chuck Vallas sealed the victory for the Wildcats with a default victory over Matt Loisel making the final score 70-61 Wilmington.

The Wilmington wrestlers all did an outstanding job facing a much more experienced Tyngsboro team. The victory is a credit to the wrestlers and their coaches.

In the short time that the P.A.L. Wrestling Program has been in existence the boys have learned a great deal. That learning is a result of the eagerness to learn as well as the effort that the wrestlers put forth.

Also, a great deal of credit has to go to the many coaches involved. The majority of the coaching has been done by Mike Pimental, Alan Tate and Paul Bossi with assistance from many others including police officers Chip Bruce and John Bossi as well as current Wilmington High School wrestlers Mike O'Toole, Dan Bonnell, Bill Tate, and Paul Clark.

Saturday, April 6, some of the wrestlers will be travelling to Milford for a free style tournament where they will gain face much more experienced wrestlers. Then on April 10, the wrestlers will be competing in the North/West P.A.L. Tournament scheduled to be held at 7 p.m. in the Wilmington High School gymnasium.

Batting Camp

A batting camp for baseball and softball will be conducted April 15-19. There will be two separate sessions daily. Only 10 players per session. A total of 10 hours for the week.

The first session will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the second session will run from noon to 2 p.m. Time missed due to inclement weather will be made up Saturday. Cost for the 10 hour week is $70. Those interested are urged to call Bob Ware at 851-6391.

Swiezynski is runner-up

After roaring through the Council, District and Regional Free Throw contests, Eric Swiezynski finished as the runner up at the K of C State Free Throw Championships recently held in Gardner.

Swiezynski shot extremely well but ran into a shooter with a hotter hand than his. In any case, Swiezynski did a fine job representing Wilmington's Fr. Croke Council K of C and we are all very proud of him, especially the Swiezynski family who supported Eric all the way. Since he is only 12, he should be a prominent contender over the next two years. Thanks congratulations to Eric.

Go fishing this weekend

by Bill Conlon

Ice out! It's showtime, anglers! Time to dust off the old rod and reel, wipe the spiderwebs out of the upsidown boat, and charge up the electric battery. Fishing season is at hand!

(Oh, all right. "Open water" fishing season is at hand. Picky, picky, picky!)

So, where to?

Hmmm. Good question.

New Hampshire's big lakes are still pretty much locked up, so there goes salmon fishing on Lake Winnepesaukee. Besides, I prefer to stay in my own backyard, so what have we got in Massachusetts?

Let's see. There's either river or pond fishing, take your pick. (I get to the ocean only rarely, so please don't think I'm ignoring those who prefer a salt breeze. Not at all.)

For rivers, there is plenty of bass fishing available on both the Merrimack and Concord Rivers, locally. The Merrimack offers both small- and largemouth bass, and if you've never caught a good-sized smallie, you're missing one of the thrills of freshwater fishing. Smallmouth bass put up twice the fight, ounce for ounce, that a largemouth can muster. Smallies prefer minnow imitations.

The state is trying to promote the walleye population in local rivers, but I haven't heard a status report. Every so often, somebody takes a walleye out of the Merrimack, so we can only hope. Walleye, which are related to perch, make terrific eating.

The Concord also boasts a nifty population of northern pike, those needle-toothed monsters. Another good pike water is the upper part of the Charles River. (The Charles in downtown Boston prompted the song about "love that dirty water," so don't bother fishing there.)

For trout, I like the Squannacook and Nissitset Rivers, to the west. If I can tolerate an hour behind the wheel, I'd much rather work the shallow, rocky Deerfield River that runs beside Route 2, (the Mohawk Trail).

Still water offers two challenges: "warm water" and "cold water" species.

The state stocks hundreds of lakes and ponds with trout, which need cold water temperatures to survive. Silver Lake in Wilmington really isn't that deep, but it's still stocked. Since none of those trout will last through the summer, get 'em while the weather is cool. They'll all be doing the backstroke come July, so eat all you want (within the limits of the law, of course).

Walden Pond is another hotspot for spring trout, and Baddacook in Groton also gets a stocking. Baddacook is deep enough for holdover, while boasting good-sized bass and other warm-water species, making the pond a "split level" water.

For warm-water fishing, I can't seem to get away from fishing for the skillet, rather than looking for a wall-hanger. Forge Pond in Westford and Peter's Pond in Dracut are my top choices for crappie ponds, both of which produce bigger-than-average crappie. At the beginning of the season they're on top, then they go deep for the summer. I've found that a pink jig, dragged dead slow across the bottom, can tempt a crappie into a dog-day strike.

Whatever sort of fishing you like best, moving or still water, cold or warm-water species, the important thing is to get outdoors. I've got the fishing itch something terrible, and as soon as I finish my taxes I'm on the water. (Okay, sweets?)

Get yourself out from behind the computer screen, wear a jacket in case it's nippy, and go fishing.

Better yet, take a kid along. It's both good luck, and it plants a seed for future generations of anglers.

Go fishing! And good luck!

The next Roy Hobbs or boy wonder?

by James Pote

Perhaps Wilmington High School varsity baseball coach Dick Scanlon has another Roy Hobbs in the making. Maybe he won't have the left-handed hitter portrayed by Robert Redford, who supplied many dramatic homers in the movie "The Natural", but Scanlon does have a player on his team who might hit a home run with a bat made with his own two hands.

Junior third baseman Sean Kerrigan was the brunt of jokes this past week when he went to home plate with a wooden bat. During a scrimmage at Wakefield last Thursday, many of his teammates were calling Kerrigan "Woodie" and having a few laughs because he did not use the customary aluminum bat. An aluminum bat offers a bigger sweet spot, is more forgiving and balls tend to jump quicker off them than wooden bats. No matter. Whatever Kerrigan uses, the ball tends to fly.

Anyway, Kerrigan had the last laugh at the scrimmage. In one of his first at-bats of the early season and his first with his new toy, Kerrigan drove a pitch deep to center field to the warning track at Wakefield High School. That shut all of his teammates up.

"I like the sound of a wooden bat a lot better," said Kerrigan, who hit over .300 last season. "I will probably use a metal bat in the games, but if we are ahead by a lot or behind by a lot than I will probably use the wooden one once in a while."

Kerrigan said last year he and several of his classmates made a few little bats during class. Kerrigan also made a bigger bat that year and added some artistic touches as well. Like the fictional Hobbs, with his "Wonder Boy" and lightning bolt engravings, Kerrigan branded on the bat his name and a reproduction of a horseshoe that can be seen prominently on Kerrigan's left shoulder. But in the end he decided the bat wasn't suitable for game play.

This year he decided to see if he could make another regulation sized model during a wood shop class under teacher and WHS Athletic Hall of Famer Bob Dicey.

Sean Kerrigan poses like an old baseball card with his bat that he made out of his own two hands. (Photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Dicey supplied Kerrigan with a block of ash wood and about two weeks later, Kerrigan was able to bring his own handmade bat to his practices and scrimmages. In about a week, Kerrigan will be able to use his bat in regular games.

Kerrigan ran through the process of how he made the bat.

"First I got about a 40-inch piece of ash wood. Then I cut it making round edges. Then you have to shave it down and shape it with different tools. I wanted the handle to be skinny so I had to bone that down, too. Getting the right diameter can be the tricky part - it just depends on how you like it."

"And then you sand it down and dip it about three times in the lacquer. [Making a bat] is not hard to do, but you have to get it the way you want to have it," Kerrigan instructed.

This bat bears no engravings or brands, Kerrigan said, to maintain strength in the bat's barrel.

Kerrigan said the bat is legal even though he really hasn't officially weighed it yet. He said he believes the bat is about 31 ounces and 32 inches in length. And he said, thus far, he likes it.

"It's pretty good, I like it. It swings about the same as a metal bat," Kerrigan said.

With new coach, Tewksbury boys tennis team gears up for opener

by James Pote
With a new Tewksbury High School boys tennis coach and seven very loyal and enthusiastic players, this year's team will be looking to do all their damage on the road - and come home with a few victories here and there.

Dave Marcus was named the new head coach taking over for Joe Dunn. Marcus says his friend George Kalarites, the girls head coach, told him about the opening and urged him to do it. And thus far, its so far so good for Marcus.

"I needed something to do and I figured these guys needed a coach so I'm going to try to do the best I can," Marcus said.

The team has three returners along with four newcomers. Brian Crovo and Eric Nutile, two of those returners will be two of the team's three single players. Tim Montague, a senior and a first time player will also be in the mix as a singles player.

"We have some strengths. Our newcomers having really showed some improvement already. The bad part about it is that we have terrible facilities. We have to share both courts with the girls team and all of our meets are away. But we will get used to the traveling. I'm looking forward for the season start," Marcus said.

The team will be traveling for the entire season. Last year they practiced and played at Northmeadow and now since those courts are being torn up, they moved to the Center Schools courts, which are far from being in tip-top condition.

Along with Crovo and Nutile, the other returner will be Artie Ford. He along with freshmen Aaron Osterman, Jeff King and Derek Medeiros will team up as the doubles partners, but Marcus is unsure of the pairings as of now.

"We might have a few more players join a little bit late. Hopefully we can have ten players, but as long as we have enough to play I'll be happy. I'm at a little disadvantage by being hired at pre-season without having the chance to go and recruit. But we will do okay. We will have some fun. We have very loyal players who enjoy tennis and that will carry us," Marcus said.

The team will open its season up on Monday, April 8 at Lawrence.

Tewksbury Pee Wee II team brings impressive offense

Saturday's Valley Youth Hockey League game at Merrimack College between Tewksbury PeeWee II and Wakefield PeeWee II was a real barnburner. As Tewksbury took an early lead and Wakefield came back, it was tit for tat all afternoon with Tewksbury scoring last to win 8-7.

In the first period it was Tewksbury who struck first at 9:43 an unassisted goal by Chris Beek and about halfway through the period Tewksbury hit again with a nice pinpoint pass from Adam Rooney to J.R. Wareham for the score at 6:26.

A short time later Wakefield scored its first at 5:37, and while in the groove they scored again a short time later at 4:46.

Tewksbury came right back with a nice pass from J.R. Wareham to Dave McCoy at 4:18 and again Wakefield came back and scored at 3:58. As the first period was winding down Wakefield scored at 0:40 and took the lead for the first time in the game.

The second period was underway and it was obvious the coaches gave their charges some lip service as the game picked up and so did the penalties. The end to end play continued with great defensive play at both ends until Wakefield scored at 6:59. Tewksbury answered back with a nice unassisted end to end rush by Ryan Carrigan at 3:57, and as per form Wakefield came right back at 1:52.

With Wakefield's defense pressing and time running out in the period, Tewksbury took a nice pinpoint pass from Ryan Carrigan to Marco Bristol for the score at 0:57. The period ended with Wakefield leading 6-5.

The third period started as the second ended with ferocious hitting and some of the best checking seen this season at both ends. Wakefield struck first with a goal and went up by two, but Tewksbury quickly answered back with a score by Dave McCoy with a nice helper to Adam

Hill. Tewksbury on a sharp shot by Marco Bristol tied the game with lots of hockey still to be played.

The intensity heightened as the clock ticked, and Tewksbury scored on a perfect pass by Dave McCoy to Adam Hill for the lead. The game proceeded to intensify but time ran out on the gallant Warriors from Wakefield as they just came up short, Tewksbury wins another tight one 8-7.

Tewksbury received some good goal tending from Jonathan Leone and the checking of Dave Bunten and Matt Belmonte was awesome as the defensive effort of Dennis Barres and Chris Beek was key in this game.

Tewksbury Mite C's getting ready for playoffs

Mite Cs pitch shutouts

The Tewksbury Mite C Youth Hockey Team geared up for the playoffs by winning two games this weekend, both by shutouts.

Saturday's Valley league contest saw the Redmen skate to a 3-0 win versus Salem and Swampscott.

Kenny Maglio, Timmy Doucette and Andrew Bochart scored for Tewksbury. Doucette and Leo Keefe earned assists. C.J. Walsh earned the shutout with Nicole Smith and Robby Rotundi dominating in defense. Vanessa Tamarello played well on wing.

Sunday was more of the same, this time it was Andrew Bochart picking up the win in goal behind stingy team defense. Danny Allen and Billy Lavigne were tough on the blue line. Matt Danecki had two goals. Single goal scorers were Matt Porcaro, Johnny Cahalane and Tommy Doucette. Assists were made by Christian Gianetti, Doucette and Cahalane. Colleen Fitzpatrick turned in her usual hustling two way game at center. Final score was Tewksbury 5, Salem, N.H. 0.

Mite B March 30

The Tewksbury Mite B Team beat the strong Nashoba team in a seesaw struggle of to determined teams.

Tewksbury started the scoring with Joshua Ciampa darting out from behind the Nashoba net and jamming the puck in. Next, Mark Martel scored from the slot within assist from Brian Chambers. Now it was Nashoba's turn to score as they popped in the next four goals of the game to take a 4-2 lead into the third period.

Danny Swansburg brought the B's to within one with a blast on a break-in assisted by Michael Frazier. The score was then tied up when Derek Beatrice rifled a shot from the right circle, Michael Ginsullo gave the B's the lead for good when he slammed the puck home; assist to Michael Grasso. Michael Albano and Bobby O'Leary played strong on defense to support the final goaltending of Marc Emond and Justin DuCom.

March 31

The Mite B's lost the eye opener game to Andover early Sunday morning by a score of 8-3. The highlight of the game was Danny Swansburg's hat trick to account for all three Tewksbury goals. Brian Chambers and Joshua Ciampa each earned an assist.

The Mite B's gave less than their best effort despite the fine play of blueliners Kevin Crosby and Jeff Conlon. Joseph DeMaio and Patrick DeVito also turned in valiant performances in the losing effort.

Final Four contest winner

On Monday night, the third annual Moe Mentos/Town Crier Final Four NCAA College Basketball Tournament drawing took place with five finalists including last year's winner Dan Bemis of Wilmington.

And just like the previous two years when either Sandy Dodge or Bemis didn't predict all four of the teams the same scenario occurred this year with all of the upsets. This year's winner is Mark Palladino of Tewksbury, who picked two of the four teams correct in UMass and Kentucky.

Palladino has won two Celtics tickets to an upcoming game as well as dinner for two at Moe Mentos Sports Bar and Restaurant in Tewksbury.

Thanks goes out to all of the participants, who entered the third annual successful tournament and this paper would also like to thank Todd DiRocco of Moe Mentos for sponsoring the fun filled contest again. Also, congratulations goes out to Mark Palladino.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

by Edward H. Wilkens

BONDING

QUESTION: I applied for a job and the employer said I would have to be bonded in order to work. What is bonding and how did it come about?

ANSWER: When a person goes to work for a company dealing in expensive or precious products such as jewelry, that individual is usually bonded. A bond, also called a surety agreement, makes the bonding company responsible for the dishonest acts of the employee.

Corporate surety bonds go back over two hundred and seventy years. In 1720, a company in England offered to insure masters of households if they lost anything because their servants were dishonest.

A BOND makes the bonding company financially responsible for the dishonest acts of employees.

Wilmington Mite B's continue to look sharp

On Saturday, the Wilmington Mite B Youth Hockey team faced off against Cape Ann in the Valley league. The Cats goalie was Scott Dunnett. Scott had an outstanding game. The Cats struck first on a pretty wrist shot from Jay Surianello with an assist going to Joe Pino. Cape Ann got two of its own before period one was over.

The second period was back and forth with Wilmington's offense of

The Wildcat defense of Joe Pino, Jennifer Corcoran, Scott Sferazza and Warren Fitzpatrick kept Cape Ann to only one goal in the second. Scott Dunnett had many nice saves and never gave up the rebound to an aggressive Cape Ann team.

Cape Ann scored again in the third. But George Dighton brought the Cats within two on a shot with assists going to Jamie Riopelle and Jay Surianello. The Cats never gave up but Cape Ann did manage to snap two more by Wilmington. The game ended 5-2 but the Cats played strong and hard.

The Tewksbury Mite B Youth Hockey team recently participated in the District 10 playdowns and they came out with an outstanding performance.

Tewksbury Squirt B's take part in District playdowns

Squirt Bs to State Tournament

The Tewksbury Squirt B youth hockey team traveled the long, snowy road to the State Tournament. The first journey was to the District 10 playdowns, which after being delayed due to a storm, began with Tewksbury winning the first game against Reading 5-2.

Tewksbury's goals in this game were scored by Joey Broderick, first being assisted by Donny MacLaren and Brian Niconchuk and finally assisted by Scott Sacco. These goals were sandwiched around Brian Niconchuk's hat trick all assisted by Joseph Clark as well as one with the help of Danny MacLaren.

The second game saw a victory for Tewksbury over Wakefield. Scott Sacco assisted by Scott O'Neill began the rally. Billy Mulvanity sent one in the net off a pass from Joseph Clark. Clark also set one up for Donny MacLaren. Billy Ward made sure Wakefield was going down in defeat scoring goal number four unassisted and the fifth and final goal with the help of his wings Joey Tornare and Jeff Fiermonte.

Thanks to the awesome defense by goal tender Steve Aldred, Tewksbury was able to beat Stoneham with only two goals. Joseph Clark was assisted by Scott Sacco. Joseph returned the gesture and assisted Scott for goal number two. Captain Chris Leonard also earned an assist in that play.

Game number four of the District 10; playdowns brought Tewksbury to Medford to face their long standing rivals. Tewksbury's defense was tough. The score remained very close for the first two periods. Unfortunately Joseph Clark's solo goal assisted by Billy Mulvanity was not enough and Tewksbury advanced to the State Tournament, as District 10 runners up.

Even though snow made the commute more difficult, nothing was to delay the opening game of the Mass. State Tournament held in Dorchester. Tewksbury came on strong against host team Dorchester. Scott Sacco scored the first goal of the game with assist going to Chris Leonard, in the first period. Joseph Tornare got goal number two from a pass from Jeff Bourgeois.

Dorchester answered the call with three quick goals forcing Tewksbury to retaliate in period three. The challenge was met when Stephen Maida with help from teammates Jeff Bourgeois and Scott O'Neill scored the third and final goal leaving the game in a 3-3 tie.

The second game had Tewksbury facing Andover. Tewksbury's defense was pushed to the limit giving up five goals in the first two periods. But Brian Niconchuk was not going to let his team leave without showing what the offense could do, he was able to score both Tewksbury goals off passes received from Donny MacLaren.

The State of Mass hadn't heard the last of Tewksbury. The Squirt B's were not walking away from this tourney easily. They met Bay State for game three, although Tewksbury spent 10 1/2 minutes (almost an entire period) short-handed due to penalties and despite two injuries, the game remained exciting.

With the game coming to an end Coach Broderick pulled the goalie putting the pressure on and getting Tewksbury on the board with an unassisted goal by Joseph Broderick, final 2-1.

Tewksbury Squirt B's left the State Tournament in the first round of competition but no one will forget they were there.

Suns beat the Sixers, 29-24 in Tewksbury youth hoop

Suns 29 Sixers 24

This was a matchup between the two best teams in Tewksbury Youth Basketball play of the Junior Division; the first place Sixers versus the second place Suns.

Both teams started the game very aggressively with the hustle and intensity of Tony Corsino and Mike DeFillippo wee matched by the Sixers' Brad Cappadonna and Andrew Resticcu.

The first half ended with Sixers enjoying a slim lead because of the offense and defensive efforts from David Ashley, Joe Ballway and Matt Carrigan. The Suns were not without their leaders as Ryan Dunlevy, Mike Feener and Ryan Martel played in-your-face basketball.

The Suns and the Sixers battled tooth and nail in the third quarter. Jimmy Hill, Nick Nawasa and the tenacity of Mike Rocco (six points) gave the Suns a narrow advantage. The Sixers showed that they were not going to give an inch as Brian Prentegast (eight points), Alan Fletcher and Jared Tagliaferro were relentless.

The fourth quarter began with the Suns holding a five point lead as Mike Williams, Adam Evans and the aggressive offense of Jason Donahue kept the pressure on their opponent. The Sixers battled to the final buzzer with Matt Carrigan, Dan Esdale, David Gentile and Joe Mallani all contributing mightily on both sides of the floor.

Both teams should be proud of their accomplishments this season.

Huskies 56 Pacers 47

This was a hard fought contest between the best of the Senior Division. The Huskies were blessed with the inside moves of Ralph Perrotti and the outside finesse of Brad Wagstaff. The Pacer was countered with big Jim Giglia and the play making Larry Reed and Keith Curran.

This game was back and forth as both teams tried to play aggressive defense against the others strong offense. The Pacers received fine all around team play from Dana Nickerson, Jim Fraize, Brian Sinkus and Chris MacMahon.

The Huskies matched the Pacers basket for basket as Scott Robson, Jared Shariffi and play making Mark Stokowski were dominant in the second half.

In the fourth quarter, the Pacers made a run as Pat Flaherty, Shaun McLennan and Joel Foster gave it their all offensively and defensively. The talented Huskies prevailed however, with Bob Ayer, John Kiely and Steve Hession making the big plays to seal the victory. This was a fine contest between two well coached teams.

The Tewksbury Boys Basketball Annual Banquet will be held Wednesday, April 10 and Thursday, April 11 at the Elks Hall from 6 to 8 p.m. The Junior, Intermediate Divisions and sixth grade travel team will meet on April 10 while

Wilmington High School softball preview from page 21

Townsend serving as a back-up as relief, if needed.

Once again the team could have a great infield. For the past few years, Nancy Pote and Laurie Southmayd where the best double play combination in the league and perhaps around the area. They both covered a lot of ground and both of them had very strong arms. They along with Dussault all made some dandy plays - now the latter is the only returner.

Dussault has a fantastic glove and is the team's catalyst defender. She was errorless for the entire season last year and she along with Harris and Landers will be the tri-captains for this year's squad. With great leadership that was seen in soccer, a great glove, not to mention a very smart, contact/bunter kind of hitter, Dussault provides the team with many different beneficial qualities.

Next to Dussault will be senior Leanne Harris. She is coming off batting .341, which included leaving her comfortable center field position half way through the season to play shortstop and that is where she will play for the entire year. She also has a very strong arm and great speed.

The right side of the infield will be made up of sophomores Catherine Townsend at second and Melissa Mather at first. Both of them were named all-stars last year in their first years of high school ball. Townsend played anywhere from second to third and she even pitched. She batted around .325 last season and she, like Dussault, is a contact hitter.

Mather, on the other hand, very impressively clubbed .350 last season which included many extra base hits. With a quick and powerful swing, Lyman said he might experiment with her in the lead-off spot. Mather could follow Laurie Southmayd as a contact hitter with power who draws a lot of walks, has decent speed and could start the game off with a bang.

"I have no idea what my line-up is going to be like. I'm thinking about putting Melissa [Mather] lead-off and maybe Nicole second - but I'm not sure what I'm going to do. I have used many different line-ups thus far and I'm going to keep on mixing them until I get the right one," Lyman said.

As for the final chapter of the infield, Lisa Southmayd returns for her third straight season behind the mask. A very good defensive catcher with a great arm, Lisa will be looked upon to not only handle the pitchers, block balls and throw out runners, but to knock in a lot of her teammates with the bat in the middle of the line-up.

As for the outfield, Julie Gillis has the most experience out of the three. Gillis a very speedy and good defensive outfielder, will control center-field. Besides Gillis, is Jill Lojek in left, who brings a very powerful bat with her from the junior varsity club, while, Melissa Palermo another small and very fast junior varsity player from last year, will be the rightfielder.

"It's obvious that losing the seven seniors will hurt us. We lost some talented players who are continuing their careers in college. But this group are all very good athletes who have picked up everything really well and really quick. Last year we just ran out of luck - but we were able to get our younger players some playing time and hopefully that will help them," Lyman said.

The team will also carry three reserves with them. All of them are three-sport athletes. Junior Deanna Ward will back-up left field and thus far she is 3-3 off the bench and that is something Lyman desperately will need. Sophomore Karen MacArthur will be a back-up right fielder/ first baseman, while sophomore speedster Jodi MacKenzie will back-up second.

"Jodi has great speed and a lot of athletic ability. We will be looking for her to be a big help by the end of the season when she utilizes her abilities," Lyman said.

Lyman as well as assistants Jake Townsend and Maureen Noone (JV Coach) once again have a talented squad to work with. All three of them are fantastic coaches. Their experience will really benefit the team, especially going into a new league.

"We expect to have some tough games against Amesbury, Newburyport, Masco and North Reading. They are some good teams. But from top to bottom, the Cape Ann League is no where close the caliber of a league that the Merrimack Valley is. But that will allow us to play some younger kids and get them some experience and that should benefit us down the line," Lyman said.

you ask any coach around, they always said we were very prepared. We suffered through some tough years and now that we are turning things around, I'm told not to return. I want to find out why I'm not going to be back," Sullivan summed-up.

"Sullivan also said he had a few offers on the table for himself to carry on his coaching career. "I'm not worried about getting a job anywhere else. My first priority was not to withdraw my name - if I did that then I would be stabbing these kids right in the back." Sullivan's assistants Rob Patterson, Chuck Carucci and Bob Scaccia will not be returning also.

Wildcats face Redmen in youth hockey action

Wilmington vs Tewksbury

Saturday morning the Wilmington Squirt B Youth Hockey team had an incredible game at Ristuccia Rink.

The offensive lines of Tom Doyle, Mike Hurst, Dan DelRossi, Chris Dellano, David DeMango, Billy Sinopoli and Tim Rose were persistent with fantastic passing, keeping the pressure on the Tewksbury goalie.

The defensive unit of Billy Nee, Derek Montalto, Jonathan Fish and Steven O'Dea were strong making it difficult for Tewksbury to get through to score.

Tom Doyle scored a great goal for Wilmington unassisted in the first period. Then Chris Dell'anno scored the second goal from the nice passing of Derek Montalto and David DeMango.

Between the defensive unit and the great goal tending of Andy Berian, Tewksbury was unable to score until the third period. The Wilmington team dominated the game for the first two periods.

Tewksbury scored three goals in the third period tying the game up. The pressure was on with both Wilmington and Tewksbury fans on their feet.

With only seconds remaining on the clock, David DeMango scored the winning goal with the buzzer sounding just as the puck went in. What a game!

Wilmington vs Reading

In the Wilmington Squirt B's game against Reading, goalie Andy Berian earned his shutout.

It was a great game with defensemen Jonathan Fish, Derek Montalto, Steven O'Dea and Billy Nee making it difficult for Reading to get many shots on net. The shots Reading did get on net were taken care of by Andy Berian.

The offensive lines of Billy Sinopoli, Tom Rose, Dan DelRossi, Chris Dell'anno, David DeMango, Tom Doyle and Mike Hurst were fast with precise passing back and forth, making it a fast paced game.

David DeMango scored the first goal three seconds into the first period with a great pass off the faceoff from Chris Dell'anno, Chris Dell'anno scored in the second period with the assist going to Dan DelRossi and Mike Hurst. Then shortly after, Billy Sinopoli had an incredible shot on goal scoring with the assist going to David DeMango. At the end of the second period Tom Doyle scored after some great hustling with Mike Hurst getting the assist.

Tin the third period with the Squirt B's still keeping the pressure on Reading, Steven O'Dea scored the fifth goal. Wilmington had a great game with incredible passing and teamwork between both the offensive and defensive players.

Wilmington vs Stoneham

In the Wilmington Squirt B's game against Stoneham in the District 10 Tournament, it was a battle back and forth throughout the game.

The offensive unit of Derek Montalto, Dan DelRossi, Jonathan Fish and Steven O'Dea was outstanding. Stoneham had a hard time getting around them.

The offensive lines kept the pressure on the Stoneham goalie throughout the game with some great passing and back checking by Tom Doyle, Billy Nee, Tim Rose, Mike Hurst, Billy Sinopoli, David DeMango and Chris Dell'anno.

David DeMango scored in the first period from the great passing of Chris Dell'anno and Billy Sinopoli. Stoneham also scored two goals. Then in the second period David DeMango scored again with the assist going to Chris Dell'anno to tie up the game. Two minutes later Stoneham scored making it 2-3.

In the third period, Derek Montalto scored unassisted to tie the game. After the buzzer sounded to end the game, there was a shoot out to decide the winning team. Wilmington was incredible with one great try at the net after another. Andy Berian was also incredible at his end holding off Stoneham. Stoneham finally got lucky and scored the winning goal.

Gail Swanson lectures on time management Everything has its time and place

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

It's about time.
Melrose native Gail Abbott Swanson is on the clock.

Her watchwords are "simplicity," "balance," and "organization."

Her time lines are catchy: "do it, delegate it, or dump it."

And her travels take her from Melrose to Wakefield, Saugus, Winchester, Danvers, Arkansas, beyond, and back, in - of course - record time.

"It's easier to keep up than it is to catch up," says Swanson, wife of one (Dan), mother of two (Amanda and Marissa), regional director of Time Talk, Inc., and extraordinary example of how to find time for ... yours, mine and hours.

"I was born for this," says Swanson, who trained others in direct sales for 15 years before making time to follow through on her own priorities.

"I was always organized," she says, "not to the point where I go shopping every Wednesday, but I always try to kill two birds with one stone. It's an instinct."

Good thing because Swanson's calendar would have her running straight out of time did she not practice what she preaches. For five years, as the regional director of Time Talk, Inc., she has worked closely with local businesses, such as Holiday Travel and Coastal Maintenance in Wakefield; Sexton and Donohoe, and the John McLaughlin Insurance Agency in Melrose, and the New England Women Business Owners in Newton; organizations, such as the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, Melrose Rotary Club, and Danvers Home-Based Women's Network; and schools, such as North Shore Community College in Danvers, Nazareth Academy in Wakefield, and Belmonte Middle School in Saugus.

Everything, she says, has its time ... and place.

"Close your eyes and put yourself in the bathroom ... Now, reach for your toothbrush," she says, illustrating each point with a story.

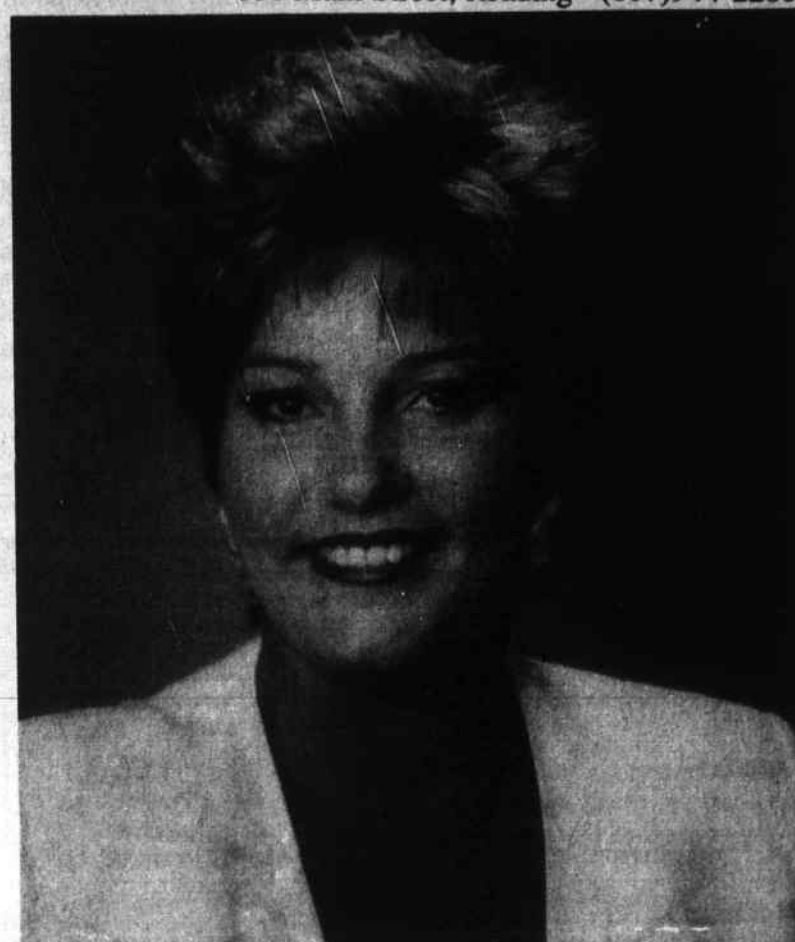

And using each story to make a point.

Finding that toothbrush is no problem because everything in the bathroom has its place. Extrapolate then to keys, receipts, shoes: kick off your shoes, if you will, but kick them in the same direction every day.

"It's spring," she says, looking at the big picture and the little details. "Take a lesson from Mother Nature. It's a time for new growth and a time to discard old debris. Don't store or stack the items that have accumulated in your office or home."

Instead, she says, "do": get your "spring-cleaning" list started; delegate what you can; prioritize the remaining items on the list; divide large projects into small bits and pieces; select your most effective working time.

Swanson to S-4

"DO IT, DELEGATE IT, OR DUMP IT," says Melrose native Gail Swanson, the regional director of Time Talk, Inc. Pick up a piece of paper only once, she says, ask yourself if someone else can handle the situation, and decide how important each task really is. But first: make a list. Even before that: stop procrastinating. And, speaking of time: don't forget to change your clocks - spring ahead!

When Sonny Bono, was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives, his former wife Cher explained, "Sonny will be perfectly at home there. Some politicians are one step Lower than some used car salesmen."

During his physical, George Gould said to the doctor, "Doc, I don't smoke, drink, gamble or swear and I don't chase women. Tell me, Doc, how long can I expect to live?" The doctor smiled and said, "What for George?"

One prisoner to another, "What are you in for buddy?" "I stole from the Rich and gave it to the Lawyers."

Kathy went on a three week diet and lost 21 days. She is now on a reducing diet that really works for her. It's called, "The Pasta Diet." She walks, "Pasta" ice cream shoppe without stopping and, she does the same, walking, "Pasta" candy store and bakery.

Tony Stack my friend from Dublin, Ireland, told me that the reason why Irish young men are reluctant to get married, is because they drink, Guinness Stout, see "Double" and stay "Single."

12th Annual N.E. Spring Crafts Festival

Over 200 artisans from across the country will gather for the 12th ANNUAL NEW ENGLAND SPRING CRAFTS FESTIVAL at the new VALLEY EXPO CENTER at the Methuen Mall on Friday, April 12 - Sunday, April 14. A wide array of traditional and contemporary handcrafts including one of a kind jewelry, colorful folk art, hand painted clothes for adults and children, decorative pottery and country style home furnishings will be exhibited.

Seasonal highlights of the show will be spring hats, hand painted dresses, floral art centerpieces, lawn and garden accessories such as terra cotta statuary and unique birdhouses along with a mouth watering selection of gourmet treats.

When browsing through the hundreds of exhibitors' booths at the NEW ENGLAND CRAFTS FESTIVAL, don't miss the intricately designed, hand pulled prints of Denise and Christopher Morse (Grafton, NH.) In the tradition of past generations, the Morse's create magical prints ranging from stunning floral scenes to animated, dream like depictions of children's literature.

Beginning with original etching, engraving, or woodcarving, the Morses engage the historical process of patiently applying color, one layer at a time resulting in amazing works of dazzling decorative art.

Also for art lovers, the festival is a treasure trove of one of a kind creations. Gary and Susan Bennett of Bennett Sculptors (Quebec, Canada) will exhibit their two dimensional, embossed marble sculptures featuring whimsical regional characters. Donna Delaney of the Goose and the Gander (North Andover, MA) specializes in intricately carved and hand-painted New England folk scenes. To capture a moment in time, Carol Lebeaux of Carol

Lebeaux Studios (Shrewsbury, MA) produces classic silhouettes

Linden Tree Spring Fling

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse announces the next concert on Saturday, April 13 will be a triple header of talent featuring Douglass Clegg, Peter Lehn-dorff, and Eric Sinclair. Two are now located in New Hampshire, one in Western Mass. This show will be insightful, thoughtful and full of fun. This incredible and unforgettable live show will begin at 8pm.

Douglass Clegg has been described by Bill Staines as "a wonderful songwriter with a great sense of tradition." Clegg describes the summer day Joan Baez stopped to give him a lift when he was thirteen as the spark that ignited his career as a songwriter and performer. Beginning with piano, he now performs with six and twelve string guitars, piano, accordion, fiddle and mandolin.

Peter Lehn-dorff, a humorous songwriter and guitarist, is from Hampden, MA. His off beat songs poke fun at the things we generally overlook in everyday life: our cars, what we eat, where we live, and things we are too afraid to admit we are even afraid of.

Eric Sinclair was snowed out Linden Tree to S-4

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

Talk about bad reception!

Air time is health issue

Too much television appears to be causing headaches in Tewksbury.

"Tewksbury is now televising all but one meeting held in town hall," notes the Tewksbury edition of the "Town Crier," in a page one story on the reception of added television coverage by some town boards.

"The planning board and conservation commission meeting are now aired live, following the lead of the board of selectmen and board of appeals, after a vote last year to put all meetings on live TV," notes the "Crier."

"The board of health is not yet on the air, in part because the board feels that some of their topics are sensitive. For example, if a resident is unable to afford septic system repairs, should that information be aired in public? Also, the board of health sometimes deals with issues of a personal nature."

"The expanded television lineup is causing a new round of headaches, however."

"The planning board this week, in a public hearing on a proposed new building on Woburn Street, ran into trouble with the microphones. Viewers at home cannot hear the discussion unless the speaker uses a microphone."

"Proponents of 12 Technologies tried to point out ... a plan where trees would be planted in a buffer strip around the property, among other points of discussion, but the microphone cord didn't quite reach to the easel. Engineers had to stretch to use the microphone while pointing to the board, an awkward situation indeed."

A 'fines' idea

The Lynnfield Public Library recently collected food for fines, at least two food items for each overdue book.

The food collected - for past or present fines - was donated to Peabody's Haven from Hunger which was in particular need, according to coordinator Trudy MacIntyre, of peanut butter, jelly, soup, tuna fish, and baby food in jars.

Craft Festival From S-2

To spice up wardrobes, the festival features many artisans specializing in personal accessories. Betty Lathrop of Harborside Fabric (Portsmouth, NH) creates detailed, handpainted silk clothing and accessories.

Tickets for the 12TH ANNUAL NEW ENGLAND SPRING CRAFTS FESTIVAL are $5 and children 13 and under are free. The show runs April 12-April 14. Hours are Friday noon to 8pm; Saturday, 10am to 7pm; Sunday 10am to 5pm. Free parking. Food Court available. The new Valley Expo Center is located at the Methuen Mall in Methuen, MA. From 93 exit 48, from 495 exit 47, from both highways then take exit 4 off route 213. For more information call 617-742-3973.

community service, patriotism, historical, militia-military."

Nominations must be postmarked by April 19th!

Anyone out there willing to take a shot?

Wakefield gets an 'A'

The Town of Wakefield has received an 'A' on the 1996 municipal recycling report card, according to Representative

Brian M. Cresta and Senator Richard R. Tisei.

The 'A' results from a score of 35 percent in the subject, "Recycling of Solid Waste."

The Wakefield Board of Public Works is the town's 1995 outstanding recycler.

"About The Towns" covers recent events in the 13-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About The Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

Gail Swanson

From S-1

"It's okay," she says, "if you're a night owl."

Setting priorities should come more easily once one determines the differences between "urgent" (calling for immediate attention) and "important" (something that can determine the day's course of events as in "if I don't do this, then this happens"). Busy work, wasted time, 'me' time - they're all part of the package.

Swanson also minds her d's and q's: declutter your work area and mind; question everything and its place. "Do it, delegate it, or dump it," she says. "Give your mind a break - write everything in one place."

Procrastination is another word for very bad timing - whether one is dealing with lima beans or homework. "Sometimes it helps to tackle the hardest thing first," says Swanson, who discovered, as a child, that the most expeditious way to get through dinner, was to eat her beans first. "When you procrastinate, something which was once important becomes urgent, complicated, unpleasant, and that's when stress comes in. We do that to ourselves."

Time, for Swanson, is the essence. She's big on lists for herself and her clients: "Take time for 10 things," she says. "Take time to work, think, play, read, help and enjoy friends, worship, love, dream, laugh, and plan - because planning is the secret of being able to have the time to take time for the first nine things."

The "don't's," according to Swanson, "are as important as - and balance - the 'do's.'" Effective time management involves scheduling your time without making promises you can't keep. "Do delegate," she says. "Don't assume you are the only one who can do the job. I used to pay my younger sister to clean my room for me ... Do allow for interruptions - don't think others won't stop to ask questions. Do learn to say 'no' - don't feel guilty - it's okay."

Reward yourself for your accomplishment - don't think someone else will."

Swanson's "steps for balance" - the same themes recurring in various ways on various lists - provide a valid lifetime life line. "Determine your stressmakers," she says. "Change what you can, accept what you can't. Organize your time, yourself, your life. Forgive yourself - get rid of the guilt ... One day at a time is not a cliché - there 'is' always tomorrow."

"Lighten up," she adds. "Have fun things to do on your 'list.'"

Count on others as they count on you, be the best you can be, talk and think positive thoughts. "Women," she says, "tend to think they can do it all, and that no one can do it like they can. They want to be everything to everybody and they don't know how to say no. That's a major women's issue - their whole life is a balancing act. Men are coming along and they're getting it but they don't have the gist of it yet."

She's big, also, on 'tool time,' as part of a daily regimen. "Do list your plans," she says. "Don't rely on your memory. Be prepared for home, work, school. Use one calendar for your whole life. Put everything in one place. Use a system planner - don't write on pads or scrap paper."

Swanson's next series of local seminars begins on April 17th and will cover such topics as "Positive Results," a "Clutter Clinic" and "How to Simplify and Balance Your Life." Call her at (617) 231-5788 for more information.

"Start simply," she says. "Sometimes you have to look at your schedule and choose one thing to cut back. Sometimes life gets boring when you fill in all the blanks in advance but you should experiment with a daily planner - and then list one thing you're going to do differently today."

"I have to go now ... I hate to run overtime."

Woodchips

From S-1

I remember when Uncle John gave up drinking hard liquor. He switched to beer, making Uncle John older "Budweiser!"

Some modern marriages, sad to say, are 'not' for, "Better or Worse," but until someone 'better' comes along.

The late wonderful orator, Bishop Fulton Sheen once said, "A hollywood Actor came home and asked his actress wife, 'How did it go today dear?' 'Awful!' she shouted. 'My Children' and 'Your Children' were fighting with 'OUR Children!'"

When a doctor's girlfriend broke off their engagement, the doctor asked her to return the engagement ring and other expensive gifts he gave her. When she refused, he sent her a bill for "75 house calls."

An elderly lady (a Yankee baseball fan), said to Yogi Berra, before a game on a hot summer afternoon, "Hello Yogi, you sure look mighty 'cool' today." "Thanks Lady," Yogi replied, "You don't look so 'Hot' yourself."

The priest said, "it's the 'Annual Collection Time,' so please consider giving 'half as much' as you declared on your 'Income Tax forms', for contributions for the year."

PERSONALITY WINNERS. Capt. Dan and Brenda Gately, Lorraine Miller, Jason Epps, Kevin DeMichalis, Karen Cullinane, Steven Bunker, Pam and Ty Dickerson all of WOBURN.

Shelly Williams, Brindhan Vijayakanthan, Fr. Dick Messina, Ira Leonard, Jim DiNova, Richard Liberace and Jane Driscoll all of WINCHESTER.

Coach Peter Brenton, Lauren Dorsey, Jenn Skelton, Melissa Coppola, Lisa Butcher and Camille Sparkes all of BURLINGTON.

Ryan Madden, Eric Previte, from his latest CD There are Songs to be Sung. His songs are rooted in the ideals of industry, 'goodness,' and community. He sings songs for all ages like his "Daddy Fixed the Breakfast," a bluesy lament over well done eggs and oatmeal that looks like gravel pudding.

WBZ's Norm Nathan told me that Rita Andrews was the prettiest girl in the school they attended. Well, it was my friend, Tommy Ciovacco who won the heart of Rita, a Real American Beauty Queen.

It was a lot different for me, when I fell in love with a beautiful farm stand girl I told her, "Let's run away and get married." She twinkled her eyes and said, "I'm sorry Chipper, but I 'can-ta-lope' with you today." I ended up marrying Kathy who I met at a Halloween Party. It was love at first "FRIGHT." Kathy forgot it was rubbish collection day. She heard the truck outside, so she picked up a waste basket and wearing an old housecoat and with curlers in her hair and cold cream all over her face, she raced out the door. "Am I too late for the rubbish?" she shouted. "No! The foreman replied looking at her make up, "JUMP" right in!"

Paul Rao's car has made him religious. Every morning Paul turns the key and "PRAYS" the darn car will start.

Bob Bonney was an hour late for the weekly Kiwanis Club Meeting. He explained that he lost an hour standing in front of a mirror admiring his good looks.

Folks, Spring may be just around the corner but my Uncle John Shea didn't believe it. Uncle John would always recite this poem, "Beneath this stone and clump of clay, lies Uncle Peter Daniels. Who, early in the month of May took off his Winter Flannels!"

Folks, it cost me $50 to have my family tree looked up and I had to Pay $500 to keep it quiet!

At Stan Black and his wife Evy's Wedding Anniversary Party, Stan got up and thanked Evy for "eighteen years" of happy marriage. Stan turned to me and whispered, "Chipper, I've been married for '32 years.'"

Saving enough for retirement?

While the financial situation of nearly two thirds of American adults continues to improve, most people still fear they will run out of money in retirement, according to a national survey commissioned by the International Association for Financial Planning (IAFP).

The poll found 55 percent of adults were "very or somewhat concerned" that they haven't provided sufficiently for their retirement. A similar percentage expressed this concern in a 1994 survey.

Those most concerned include women, 35-44 years olds and those with annual household incomes between $30,000 and $60,000. Respondents expressing the least concern include those 55 and older, men and those with

Elderly must increasingly be aware of fraud

Consumer fraud is a $100 billion a year business in America, Money reports, and the elderly are falling prey in increasing numbers. For example, a 1993 FBI sting of 95 shady telemarketers concluded that 34% of the prospective victims on the firms' phone lists were seniors. And a 1994 study by the National Center on Elder Abuse in Washington, D.C. says there were more than 29,000 cases of one on one financial exploitation last years.

The nation's largest financial publication reports that four factors put seniors at greater risk than ever before: Plumper assets. Booming housing markets in the '70s and early '80s plus terrific stock market returns, have made the most recent crop of seniors richer than any other adult group.

In 1991 the median net worth of households headed by a person age 65 or older was $88,192, compared with $58,250 for the 45 to 54 year old group and $31,148 for the segment 35 to 44, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

More leisure time. Longer life spans and earlier retirements often mean empty hours sometimes filled by reading mail and taking phone calls and visits from stranger offering "money savings" deals, "can't miss" investments and "big cash prizes."

Isolation. Financial comfort has allowed the elderly to live independently for decades past their retirement day, even to move to warm weather paradises often thousands of miles from their families. yet alone, sometimes in failing health, they respond warmly to crooks who may be the only humans who call or visit for months at a times.

Families must be more vigilant in combating widespread and growing elder fraud, advises the November issue of Money magazine.

Free KidCare safety Photo ID

One in seven missing children are found because of a photograph distributed by the NCMEC, so authorities recommend that parents obtain standardized safety documents such as the KidCare Photo ID for their children.

The Reading Co-Operative Bank is hosting the KidCare Photo ID event as part of a national effort to provide parents with personal safety IDs of their children in the event of an emergency. The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) and the Polaroid Corporation have developed the KidCare Photo ID as part of a national campaign to increase awareness about missing children and educate parents about the steps they can take to help protect their children.

The KidCare ID is a NCMEC approved form of standard identification for children.

"Everyone has pictures of their children, but most parents do not have a suitable photograph if their child becomes lost or missing," explained Ernest

Allen, president of the NCMEC. "It is very important to have a recent, unobstructed head and shoulders photograph of the child. The photograph should be stored in a safe place with the vital statistics of the child at the time the photograph is taken."

Reading Co-Operative Bank, in conjunction with the Chamber's sixth annual EXPO, is offering the free KidCare IDs as a public service to families in the area. "We're pleased we can play such a vital role in helping to keep children safe in our own community," said Elizabeth McCarthy, Assistant Vice President of Reading Co-Operative Bank. "We certainly hope no one will ever need to use these documents, but parents can at least have peace of mind to know they have the information in a safe place at home should the need arise. "No one really knows the full extent of the missing children problem. In one study conducted on the issue, the U.S. Department of justice found that there were over one million children reported missing each year. Authorities at NCMEC point out that most of the children who are abducted are taken by a family member (e.g., estranged parent), who do not generally have the child's best interests in mind. Experts at NCMEC advise, however, that many crimes against children can be prevented through education.

Parents can obtain free KidCare IDs for all of their children on April 11, from 2 pm to 8 pm. Kits will be available on a first come basis at the Police Department's exhibit booth. Officers from the Wilmington Police Department will be on site to help weigh and measure children and will guide families through the KidCare photo ID event.

For more information about the Kid Care Photo ID event or annual EXPO '96, contact the Chamber of Commerce at 508-657-7211.

Answers for digestive problems

If you suffer from digestive complications like heartburn or indigestion, do you have to go through life eating bland, boring foods to help control your symptoms? Not necessarily, according to Pat Baird, M.A., R.D. a registered dietitian, nutrition consultant, health educator and food writer.

In her new book, Be Good to Your Gut: Recipes and Tips for People with Digestive Problems (Blackwell Science; October 1995; $14.95; paper), Ms. Baird offers over 60 tasty recipes which use ingredients that make them easy to digest.

Be Good to Your Gut is written specifically for people who suffer from motility disorders. Motility refers to the movement of food through the digestive system, and motility disorders include all of the complications that can occur during the digestive process, including heartburn, indigestion, slow stomach emptying, constipation and irritable bowel syndrome.

Be Good to Your Gut has been reviewed and is supported by the American College of Gastroenterology.

"Many people suffer from motility disorders," says Baird. "In fact, in a 1995 Gallup survey, more than half (52%) of adult Americans said they had symptoms related to GI motility disorders within the past month.

Each chapter is devoted to a different motility disorder and provides important background information that helps the reader understand what causes the condition, what aggravates it, and what can be done to avoid it.

Teenagers rebellion and aggression workshop

Judith Goodman, LICSW and David Douglas, LICSW, will lead a two evening workshop for parents who are coping with their children's aggressive behavior. One of the most painful and despairing experiences for parents and which is often kept secret, is when adolescents become aggressive toward family members.

Both parents, but mothers in particular, feel intimidated and have difficulty setting limits and enforcing standards or acceptable behavior. The workshop will offer training in both nonverbal and verbal communication to assist parents in reestablishing boundaries.

The first two session workshops will take place in Arlington, Thursdays, May 9 and 16. Call 617-862-3699 or 641-3101 for further information.

Retirement From S-6

incomes of at least $60,000 annually.

"Many Americans now understand that their employers and Social Security may not provide an income for their retirement years," said IAFP president Greg Sullivan. "It's up to each individual to plan for their own retirement by establishing a financial strategy to achieve this long term goal."

Although most were concerned about their retirement years, the survey found 61 percent of adults have improved their financial situation during the last 12 months and 70 percent expect even more improvement during the coming year. This is similar to last year's survey findings, when 62 percent said their financial situation had improved over the prior year and 71 percent expected even more improvement in 1995.

The Wirthlin Group, a Washington, D.C. based research firm, conducted telephone interview with 500 Americans age 21 and older who have household incomes of at least $20,000 annually and who play a major role in managing their finances. Survey responses were gathered in October 1995. The poll's margin of error is plus or minus 4.4 percent.

Atlanta based IAFP is an organization dedicated to the idea that objective advice supports smart financial decisions. ## NEW ENGLAND MEDICAL ASSOCIATES, P.C.

Healthy Lifestyle. What does that make you think of? Is it really worth trying to achieve, and if so, how hard would you need to work at it? And more importantly, could it really improve your life and bring you happiness.

These are questions many people are asking. The most precious gifts we have been given are our life and health. What we do with them is up to us.

We at NEW ENGLAND MEDICAL ASSOCIATES, believe that a person's Primary Care Physician, is the best source of information for those wanting answers to these questions. As specialists in Internal Medicine, we are trained to manage the overall care of our patients. This gives us the opportunity to help our patients through the maze of information produced by the media, and advise them on an effective approach.

Our group is in the process of expanding and we will soon be able to provide patients with a broader spectrum of care. Our Physician Assistant, Shaenaeus Graf cares for many patients who prefer to see a woman.

Access. Our Doctors are available 24 hours per day. After office hours we can be easily reached by our answering service.

Our offices are in the Medical Office Building which is connected to Boston Regional Medical Center. This provides direct access to the hospital lab and X-ray, with walk through to all Medical Center areas.

What Do The Experts Think?

When it comes to quality health care, the right choices are right here. Just ask the experts — your neighbors. Like you, they expect and deserve the very best in health care. That's why they chose a primary care physician in their community, a doctor affiliated with Melrose-Wakefield Hospital.

We're now an extensive network of over 70 primary care physicians and an active medical staff of over 500.

We're affiliated with over 30 insurers and HMOs. But we've never outgrown our commitment to give you quality, affordable health care — right in the neighborhood.

Sgt. Bilko, Short Takes

by Rochelle Flynn
Sgt. Bilko starring Steve Martin, Dan Aykroyd, Phil Hartman, Glenna Headly, Daryl Mitchell, Austin Pendleton, Chris Rock. Directed by Jonathan Lynn. Written by Andy Breckman. Produced by Brian Grazer. Rated PG.

Overcompensating actors and a script resembling a watery sitcom don't exactly whip up into a light comedy melange, no matter how good the ingredients are to begin with.

True, the director also helmed "My Cousin Vinny," a funny movie if ever there was one, and each of the principle cast members has worked extensively as comedians. Also true is that the movie is based on a very popular TV series, though one marked with the indelible imprint of Phil Silvers, who played the scamming sergeant from 1955 to 1959. What curdled this comedy is the uninvited script by Andy Breckman, that comic genius behind "Arthur 2: On the Rocks."

SEEKING REVENGE FOR A PAST HUMILIATION

As adept as Martin is at physical humor, as much fun as it is to watch him show the one spark of ingenuity in today's army, the plot quickly becomes as silly and recognizable as dozens we've seen before. It boils down to a grudge match between the likable, brilliant Bilko and the bilious Major Thorn (Phil Hartman.)

Years earlier, Bilko caused no end of grief to Thorn, who was out to get him even then. After years of exile on an army base in Greenland, Thorn is back, hoping to squash the man he blames for his stalled military career - Bilko. The problem is that there is no finesse to all this finagling, and because there are so few laughs in the script, it feels as if Martin is over doing it.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

'Museum for a day' in Reading

Did you attend Parker?

"Is Parker in your attic?" That's the question being asked of all area residents as part of a plan to construct a short-term, mini-museum in celebration of Reading's new Parker Middle School.

"As the construction of the new Parker Middle School in Reading gets underway, a group of people in Reading is planning to commemorate the old W. S. Parker Junior High School and they are putting out the call for memories and memorabilia," notes current Parker publicity.

"They plan to create a Parker 'Museum' for a short-term exhibition of artifacts. This would be part of the celebration being planned for Saturday, May 4th, 1996.

"The group would love to have you search storerooms, attics, trunks, and picture albums for copies of The Quill, commendations, citations, newspaper stories, field day pictures, cheerleader or sports pictures or uniforms, Hall Patrol arm-bands, report cards, etc. The group can copy those things you do not want to part with.

"Construction of the new Parker Middle School began last October. The new school is being built in two phases. The first phase consists of two wings being built on the upper field. The second phase will be built on the footprint of the 'old' school. Construction of phase two will begin in late summer after the 'old' Parker has been demolished.

"The group is also looking for student and staff alumni of W. S. Parker Junior High School to share their memories of their years at Parker. Memories of friends, sports, teachers, academic and social experiences, boy friends or girl friends, etc. would be welcomed!

"Not these memories down in any form and send them in. They will be displayed at Parker during May and June.

"If you have a memory of your years at Parker or an artifact you'd like to lend, or any questions, please contact: Commemoration Committee, c-o Susan Kalmakis or David Williams, Parker Middle School, 45 Temple St., Reading, MA 01867 or phone (617)-944-1236."

Looking for many good volunteers

"Once again I am asking for your assistance in helping Winchester Hospital recruit Junior Volunteers for the summer program," notes Winchester Hospital Volunteer Manager Nancy McKersie.

"As you are aware, Junior Volunteers are immensely helpful to the hospital in very meaningful ways: they serve as messengers transporting patients and running a myriad of errands; they serve customers in our coffee shop; they assist staff in many offices and departments and visitors in the Information areas. In return, we feel the Juniors gain insight into health care and into their own skills and interests, while helping less fortunate people..."

Here's the deal - please let your children in on it:

"If you are interested in being a Junior Volunteer at Winchester Hospital this summer, it is time to call the Volunteer Office for information and an interview. Juniors should be 14 years old. As a Junior Volunteer, there are many opportunities for service: as a messenger, in the coffee shop or various departments. There is much to do and a lot to learn. You would work once or twice a week for shifts of three to four hours."

For more information or to set up an interview, call the Volunteer Office at Winchester Hospital at 756-2626.

But it is ... Fair!

The Tewksbury Public Schools will hold their second annual college-career fair at Tewksbury Memorial High School on April 9th from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Information - according to an extremely attractive flyer - will be available on four-year colleges, community colleges, jobs and careers, technical and vocational schools, various majors, the application process, and financial aid.

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters, and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

Movies From S-8

Martin is a very successful physical comedian. He also has a precise sense of timing. But at times he seems to be doing his wild and crazy guy routine and everyone else is stuck in a stagnate comedy so thinly sketched the director could never squeeze a laugh out of it.

Not to say this doesn't have some good points. There is something very sweet about Dan Aykroyd's Colonel Hall, a man who knows he lost charge of his army base when Bilko came aboard, but pretends not to notice. Actually, it is no secret that Bilko is a con artist, but he's a winsome guy, so everyone plays along. This is especially true of Bilko's sometime fiancée, Rita Robbins, played tongue-in-cheek by Glennie Headly.

Rita knows Bilko is full of hot air, but she loves the excitement of never knowing what's going to happen next. Their relationship is one of the film's high points, as both like playing games and Rita holds her own

Title insurance needed for safety

Jim and Sandy recently moved into their new home after six months of extensive renovations, fulfilling a lifetime dream. Suddenly, a missing heir of a previous owner showed up and claimed title to the home. The Prestons went to court and lost. Now, not only do they not have a home, but they spent all their savings defending their case. A true story? No, not in this case, but such a scenario is not unheard of. "You can avoid this type of situation by purchasing owner's title insurance," advises John Bulman, president of the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors, Inc.

"A title search generally determine ownership and any encumbrances affecting the property, but even so, most lenders require lender's insurance in the amount of the mortgage," says Bulman. "This ensures that they have first lien on the property in the event of fraudulent or improperly signed deeds, unpaid taxes, or any undisclosed hazard or risk that comes to light."

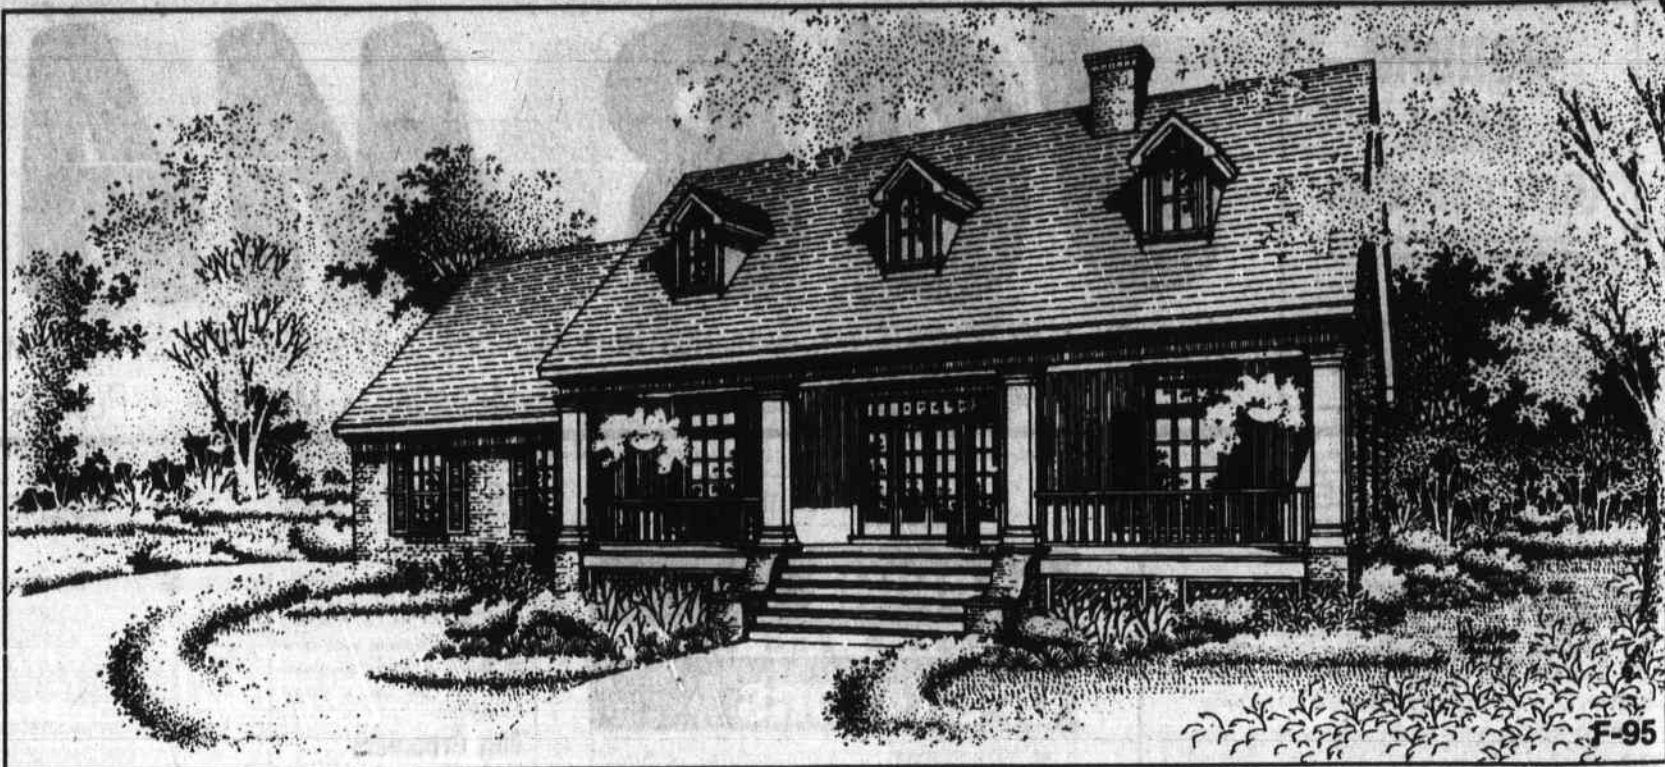

In the case of the Prestons, however, a lender's title insurance would not have helped them - only the lender. In addition, homeowners should be aware that once the loan is paid off, the lender's title insurance is no longer in effect.

"Many homeowners opt to also purchase owner's title insurance, written for the amount of the purchase price," says Bulman. "This protects the homebuyers' up to the time they sell the property."

Homebuyer's title insurance usually guarantees that the insurer will pay any legal fees for defending against challenges to the title and will pay any valid claims. A separate owner's title policy is needed even if your attorney has performed a title examination and assumed liability for the work. An independent attorney's liability is limited to negligence and does not include responsibility for the hidden title problems.

Owner's title insurance is a

Country living at its best

Plan F-95 by HomeStyles Designers Network, presents the best of traditional country living throughout its 1,800 square feet of living space. This attractive home features front and rear covered porches and a master suite so luxurious it deserves (and gets) its own wing.

The double-doored entry welcomes visitors into the wide-open living room, which displays a prominent fireplace. A skylight lets in natural light, and two French doors lead to the partially covered back porch.

Designed for efficiency, the kitchen features an angled snack bar and a bayed eating area with views of the porch. An all-purpose utility room is located off the kitchen. Double doors lead the way to the adjacent formal dining room, which overlooks the front porch. The kitchen, eating area, living room and dining room all have 12-foot ceilings.

The grand, secluded master suite features a tub and a separate shower, a double-sink vanity, a walk-in closet with built-in shelves and a private toilet. A wide window offers views of the backyard and beyond, and admits the morning light.

The two secondary bedrooms share a hall bath on the other side of the home. The rear bedroom has porch access.

The garage has a side entry, features two built-in storage areas and has access to unfinished attic space above.

F-95 Statistics

Design F-95 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast nook, three bedrooms, two full baths and a utility room, totaling 1,800 square feet of living space. The plan is available with 2x6 exterior wall framing and a crawlspace or slab foundation. The home's two-car garage and accompanying storage spaces offer 634 square feet of space. The front and back porches deliver another 448 square feet.

MARKET EVALUATION
WITH A GUARANTEE!

If you are thinking of selling your home within the next 12 months, why not get an approximation of the market value of your property... right over the phone?

It's simple... call our office at 944-6060 and answer a few questions about the type, style, lot size, taxes and amenities of your home. With this information we will do a Market Analysis and call you back promptly.

Of course, a more accurate analysis of your property's value will require us to do an interior inspection of your home to check for the quality of finishes, room layout and several other factors.

This inspection has several other advantages too! Primarily we can advise you about what repairs to do or not to do! Often owners think they must do a lot more work than they really need to... but it's important to do the right things that will attract the buyer's attention!

A FIX-UP GUARANTEE
If we can't recommend after our inspection at least three fix-up ideas to you that you haven't thought of, we'll take $100 off the commission when the property sells!

Your home: Q & A

Which type of door is most energy efficient- wood or vinyl?

Storm doors and windows reduce drafts, help hold down energy bills and make heating systems function more efficiently.

The dead air in the space between windows, or between storm and house doors, acts as insulation, reducing heat loss to the outside. And the extra layers provided by storm doors and windows help seal out cold air during cold-weather months.

Storm doors made of wood, or with a wood or foam core, are the most energy-efficient but vinyl and aluminum doors resist warping better. A combination door has interchangeable glass and screen panels and allows a smooth transition between seasons.

If you have a combination door, switch from glass to screen in early spring. Otherwise, heat trapped between the storm and entry door may build sufficiently to melt the weatherstripping or warp the door.

Storm windows may be additions from hooks and held closed with a hook and eye. A combination storm window is screwed to the exterior trim. Its sashes and screen slide in tracks and can be raised or lowered to suit the season.

Wood Storm Windows and Doors

Good maintenance of wood storm windows and doors requires periodic repainting to prevent absorption of moisture that may cause swelling, distortion or rotting.

Before repainting a storm window or door, inspect it for damage. Reglue loose joints and reinforce them with metal corner plates from your hardware store. Repair or replace bent or loose hardware and crumbling or missing putty.

Aluminum or Vinyl

Once a year, scrub vinyl or painted aluminum door or storm sashes with a stiff brush and household detergent. Rub unpainted aluminum door and window frames with fine steel wool to remove oxidation deposits, then apply a light coat of automobile paste wax.

The tracks of vinyl or aluminum storm windows are dirt-catchers. Keep them clean

Keep the drain holes in the bottom of your aluminum or vinyl storm windows clear to prevent condensation from rotting the sills. If your windows don't have drain holes, drill them. Three one-eighth-inch holes will do.

Sagging and Sticking Doors

If your storm door sags, use a wire cable and turnbuckle (from hardware stores) to give it a lift. At the top inside-corner of the hinge side and on the inside of the lower opposite corner, install sheet-metal screws (or wood screws on wood doors). Measure out enough wire to run diagonally between the two screws and securely fasten it to the screws.

Cut the wire at its midpoint and fasten both ends to the turnbuckle and tighten the turnbuckle until the sag is eliminated.

If your storm door won't close because it's hitting the frame, realign the frame by tightening the screws that hold it to the jamb on the hinge side.

If your storm door won't close and it's not hitting the frame, adjust the door's tubular pneumatic-closer. On most models, turning the slotted screw in the center of the end cap counter-clockwise allows the door to close faster and more fully. If the door is banging shut, turning the screw clockwise will make the door close more slowly.

the closing costs. Bulman suggests asking your real estate agent to assist you in the purchase of owner's life insurance.

"Most agents can recommend a list of reputable, experienced insurers," says Bulman. "Prices will vary, so it's best to shop around and compare rates and coverage."

"At a time when many homeowners are struggling just to save a down payment, owner's title insurance can seem an unnecessary luxury," warns Bulman.

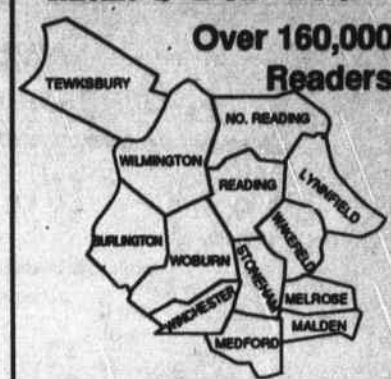

"But a little extra investment up front can save years of worry, or in the worst case, your home."

Five most common tax goofs

The March issue of Money magazine forecasts the five most common, costly mistakes taxpayers will make on their 1995 federal income tax returns.

Failing to properly file your nanny tax. Just when you finally figured out how not to become the next Zoe Baird the law's changed: No you'll owe Social Security and Medicare tax equal to 15.3% of wages for employees who earned $1,000 or more last year (none if they earned less. So grab a Schedule H, the only new tax form, which is available by calling the IRS forms phone number: 800-829-3676. You must also compute and pay federal unemployment (FUTA) tax if you shelled out $1,000 or more in any calendar quarter of 1995 to a household employee.

Reporting investment income in the wrong place. For example, savers often note earnings from money market funds as "interest income" on line 8a or the 1040 or 1040A. Problem is, the IRS considers money fund earnings to be dividends, which belong on line 9. Conversely, even though credit union earnings are called dividends, the money your credit union account earns is actually interest and must be reported accordingly.

Paying federal tax on a state tax refund.

Reporting questionable income with no explanation. Every year hundreds of thousands of taxpayers cite figures on their returns that don't match information sent to the IRS by their employer, bank or other institution and then expect Uncle Sam to live with the discrepancy. He won't. So if you're reporting, say, only half the interest from a bank account you hold jointly with your sibling, each of you must file a 1099

Not taking a refund.
